

Another Gangster Murder Stirs New York

MACHINE GUN BULLETS MOW DOWN 3 MEN

Plan Drive to Wipe Public Enemies from City After Latest Outbreak

HOLD SUSPECT AS KILLER

Federal Agents Sent East to Assist in "Cleanup" Efforts

New York—(AP)—Another gangster outbreak caused city leaders, federal representatives and indignant citizens to intensify plans today to clamp the lid on crime.

In the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn last night five gunmen lined three men against a lumber yard fence and peppered them with bullets. One dropped dead; the other two were critically wounded. The gunmen escaped.

Anthony Ferreri, 25, paroled convict, was killed. Angelo Currianni, 23, and Murray Leonard, 21, were wounded.

Currianni told detectives that he and his two companions were taken for a "ride" from a dance hall by five men. He would give no motive for the attack. The eight went to the lumber yard in an automobile.

Two policemen killed in a payroll robbery chase Friday were being buried today. Twelve persons wounded in the police and robber gunfire were in hospitals with one in a critical condition. Four others killed in the shooting, including four-year-old Gloria Lopez and the two robbers will be buried tomorrow or Wednesday.

Enlist U. S. Aid

Federal agents have been sent to New York to help stamp out the gang evil. Racketeers' income taxes will be scrutinized.

Thousands of citizens are expected to attend an anti-crime mass meeting tonight in central park arranged by the New York American. Speakers will be United States Senator Wagner, Police Commissioner Mulrooney, Major General Smedley D. Butler of the marines, State Attorney General John J. Bennett, representatives of the American Legion and others.

The board of aldermen is planning a special session to appropriate $100,000 to equip patrol squad cars with radios.

The Merchants' association announced that New York's crime fighting bill for 1930 had been approximately $55,000,000 which includes police, courts and prison expenditures.

Figures compiled by the police department show that four innocent bystanders have been killed and 39 wounded by stray bullets fired by gunmen on New York streets during 19 months ending July 31.

Hold Wounded Man

Murray Leonard, with a bullet in his abdomen, was held today as one of the killers of Anthony Ferreri in a gang murder in Brooklyn last night.

At first it was believed Leonard, a 21-year-old ex-convict, was with Ferreri and Angelo Currianni when they were lined up against a fence by five gunmen. Police however, after hearing the story of eye-witnesses, eight men were in the automobile which drove away from a dance hall and stopped at a lumberyard along a little-frequented street. Ferreri and Currianni were ordered out of the car and were lined up against the fence.

Leonardi, police said, was with the five killers whose fusillade of shots dropped Ferreri dead and Currianni seriously wounded. Leonard was wounded as he stepped forward a little in advance of the others.

He was dragged back to the killers car and taken to a hospital by the gunmen who drove away before they could be questioned. Currianni dragged himself to a garage not far from the execution spot and was taken to a hospital.

Neither Leonard nor Currianni were on the list of critically injured at the hospital. There were five bullet wounds in Currianni's body.

Leonardi, denying complicity in the attack, said he and Ferreri and Currianni were on their way to meet three girls. He would offer no explanation for the attack. Neither would Currianni.

U. S. Attorney George Z. Medalle said this morning that he had not yet been informed officially of any effort by President Hoover to bring about joint municipal, state and national action against gangs. Although Medalle already has expressed himself as favoring cooperation in the war on gangs and gangsters, he declined to say anything about the latest development in advance of official notification.

Boy Killed As Brother Cleans Gun

Victor Wichman, 9, son of Edward Wichman, a farmer residing on route 4, Seymour, in the town of Osborn, was fatally shot about 1 o'clock this afternoon by a brother Albert, 28, while the latter was cleaning a rifle. The bullet entered the left temple and the youngster died on the way to a Green Bay hospital.

Sheriff John Leppen and Stanley Stahl, district attorney, were called to Seymour to make an investigation.

CONTROL FOREST FIRES AT MOSINEE

Mosinee—(AP)—Fires that burned through cutover and timber lands for four days near here and at one time endangered Mosinee, today were brought under control.

More than 100 volunteers fought the blazes Saturday and Sunday. Fire Chief Frank Martin said more than 1,000 acres had been burned over and that Saturday night it was feared the fires might get beyond control and get to the city.

The fighters dynamited for water in the path of the flames and succeeded in curbing the fires.

NAVAL SHIPS PLAN TO "ATTACK" KEWAUNEE

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Lake Carriers' association today issued a bulletin warning ships masters to keep sharp lookout Wednesday night for seven naval ships in a search and attack maneuver on Lake Michigan off Kewaunee, Wis. The naval vessels will not carry lights during the maneuvers.

At first it was believed Leonard, a 21-year-old ex-convict, was with Ferreri and Angelo Currianni when they were lined up against a fence by five gunmen. FOREIGN-BORN ARE NOT GIVEN EQUAL CHANCE

Wickersham Reports Police Discrimination Against Foreigners

BY JOHN F. CHESTER

Washington—(AP)—Absolving the foreign born of blame for the volume of crime in this country, the Wickersham commission made clear today it could not say the same for the native born children of foreigners.

With this statement the commission severed its last official connection with the capital. It was learned that even the tiny temporary offices it had supported, after lack of funds caused the closing of the former elaborate headquarters July 1, had closed their doors late last week.

The report upon "Crime and the Foreign Born," by the commissions fourteenth and last, save for a statement of its findings by Chairman Wickersham, addressed to President Hoover.

In it the members attacked what was termed a popular belief that aliens were responsible for more crime than any other class. Discussing the cause of this belief, however, the commission said it could not present either positive proof or denial as to the responsibility of the children of foreign parents.

All 11 members signed a statement that they were able "definitely to say that any such impression as to the foreign born is at variance with the facts."

Reports by half a dozen specialists upon "Crime and the foreign born," supervised by Dean Edith Abbott of the University of Chicago's graduate school of social service administration, maintained that despite prejudice against the alien this class actually committed less crime than the native-born proportion to their number.

Easy To Shift

"It is easy," Dean Abbott said in summary, "to shift responsibility for what is wrong by charging it upon the nationals of other countries. It is easier, for example, to charge our crime record against immigrants than against an inefficient and corrupt system of police and an outworn system of criminal justice."

A study of the Mexicans in California by Professor Paul F. Taylor of the University of California, found that in some sections where crime among this class exceeded that of resident citizens police prejudice acted to increase arrests "quite independently of criminality."

Miss Alda C. Bowler, research assistant at the University of Chicago, reported that among 498 foreign born criminals in Illinois penitentiaries tales of "police brutality" were frequent. Although discounting many of these reports as a customary method of securing sympathy, she said:

"Justice is certainly in serious straits in a city where the intelligence of its detectives does not rise

QUESTION ANOTHER WITNESS IN CASE

New York—(AP)—A new witness, who identified herself as Mrs. Jean Seiz, was questioned today by federal authorities investigating the mysterious disappearance of Hisashi Fujimura, wealthy Japanese silk merchant, last seen at sea on the liner Belgeland, Aug. 14.

Neither the woman's connections with the missing importer nor the nature of the information authorities hoped to obtain from her was revealed.

Mrs. Seiz entered the federal building shortly after Mrs. Mary Von Reissner, the former show girl who accompanied Fujimura on the six-day cruise to Halifax and was said by the federal agents to have quarreled with him the night preceding his disappearance.

GRASSHOPPERS INVADE MICHIGAN AND CANADA

Sault Ste. Marie—(AP)—Chase Osborne, former governor of Michigan, today reported that "rafts" of grasshoppers were invading the upper Michigan peninsula and Ontario, Canada, after floating down St. Mary's river.

The former governor, residing in a lodge at Duck Island, said it was apparent the grasshoppers were blown out on Lake Superior and then massed together to form "rafts" which floated across the lake and down the river.

CLAIMS PLANE IN WHICH MAN DIED

Valparaiso, Ind.—(AP)—John Arthur Holmes of Chicago today identified as his own the airplane on which Thomas Raddie, 21, South Chicago, fell and was burned to death near here Saturday. Holmes said the plane, which he valued at $1,750, was stolen from the Chicago Municipal airport.

Offer Big Reward In Bomb Plots

Mansfield, O.—(AP)—Rewards of $10,000 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who bombed the Mansfield Journal last week and attempted to bomb the Mansfield News last night, were offered today by the Brush-Moore, Inc., publishers of the News.

The concern offered $5,000 for the arrest and conviction of the vandals who tossed a gunpowder bomb into the News building Sunday night and another $5,000 in the case of the Journal. The Journal building was damaged by a bomb thrown into a basement from a passing automobile.

Previously the Journal had offered a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the bomb throwers.

While the Journal editorially expressed the belief that the bomb was the answer of the underworld to its policy of upholding the law and advocating war on crime, the News said: "The Journal consistently and commendably has opposed the crime element but not so forcefully as to attract crime's reprisal in this manner. There is no more reason for an attack on the Mansfield Journal than on any of hundreds of daily newspapers throughout the country. Newspapers everywhere are opposing crime."

It was recalled today that the bombings brought to four within two years, attempts to damage Mansfield publishers and newspapers. Some time ago the home of R. C. Holmes, former publisher of the News was bombed, and later some dynamite was found wired to his automobile while it was parked at a country club. The explosive was discovered before it was ignited.

Another Mansfield newspaper today had been made the target of unidentified vandals in the second bombing attempt in as many days.

A crudely made bomb, filled with gunpowder, was tossed into the building house of the Mansfield News last night but failed to explode. It ignited a pile of rags in a lower stairway, creating a smoldering blaze quickly extinguished by firemen.

Early Saturday the plant of the Mansfield Journal was partly wrecked when a bomb exploded in the basement, causing about $10,000 damage and injuring one man.

KIDNAPERS HOLD CHICAGO OPERATOR

Chicago—(AP)—Alarmed by threatening telephone calls, friends of John J. "Jack" Lynch, handbook operator and race track stockholder, said today they were trying to raise a purse by which to bring about his release from kidnapers.

The part owner of Arlington Park Race track and share-holder in the General News Bureau which supplies racing information throughout the country, has been held by kidnapers since Thursday, his friends said, for $250,000 ransom.

Marty Guilfoyle, for years a leading gambler and handbook operator, and an associate of Lynch, was reported to be rising $50,000 in hopes of effecting a compromise. The kidnapers, however, were quoted by the Herald and Examiner as saying they want $250,000 or "We'll fill Lynch full of lead."

The pioneer handbook man disappeared between Chicago and his summer home in Lake Geneva, Wis. Several hours later, a telephone call was received by his wife at Lake Geneva. She was told that he had been kidnapped and held for $250,000.

Mrs. Lynch asked the men to call Guilfoyle who laughed: "Quit your kidding; there isn't that much money in the world."

Mrs. Lynch were received by both of them Saturday have the money ready by today or "You'll get him back—dead."

The strain has caused the complete collapse of Mrs. Lynch. Up to a year and a half ago, Lynch operated what was supposed to be one of the largest string of handbooks in the country.

CALIFORNIA WOMAN LEADS GOLF PLAY

Bernice Wall of Oshkosh Is One of Two Runners-up

Highland Park, Ill.—(AP)—Mrs. Leona Pressler of San Gabriel, Cal., captured the medal in the women's western golf championship today as she defeated with one notable exception wedged into the qualifiers circle. Mrs. Pressler shot a 73 to mark herself as one of the outstanding entries for the crown she held in 1927 and 1928.

The notable failure in the qualifying battle was Mrs. Elaine Rosen that Reinhardt of Dallas, Tex., three-times holder of the crown. Mrs. Reinhardt started with a 47 and came in with a 43, making 90 for the 18 hole round.

Scores were so low that an 83 or 84 looked like the qualifying limit with a play-off at least for the 85 shooters. Mrs. Grace Tabor of Los Angeles, finalist in 1928, was on the border line with an 85.

One shot behind Mrs. Pressler in the medal fight today came two more favorites in the championship battle, which continues over the match play route tomorrow—Virginia Van Wie of Chicago and Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis. Miss Van Wie, Chicago's first ranking star shot 34-41 for an 85, missing a short putt on the final green to tie for the medal and Miss Wall shooting a pair of 49's and tossing away a shot on the same green by taking three putts.

Mrs. George Tyson of Kansas City, the defending champion, qualified easily with an 81, providing the highest golfing punch of the day by scoring a hole-in-one of the 135 yard hole. It was the first ace in the tournament's history. Mrs. Pressler thumbed the galleries on the same hole a little later by holding a chip shot 29 feet away for a dove.

U. S. PILOT KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASH

Detroit—(AP)—Two of three airplanes, flying in formation, touched in midair yesterday afternoon and one of them crashed near Wayne airport, killing its pilot, Lieut. Robert D. Moon, of Selfridge field.

Moon attempted to bring his plane to land and was killed instantly when it crashed. His body was burned when the wreckage caught fire.

Private Joseph Walcott, 16th observation squadron, national guard, jumped with his parachute when the plane was within 400 feet of the ground, and landed safely.

1 KILLED, 1 FATALLY HURT AS PLANE FALLS

Washington—(AP)—Sergeant Lee Clerk of Sandeigh was killed and Private Richard M. Campbell, of Nashville, was injured fatally in the crash of an American Marine corps plane yesterday at Corinto, Nicaragua.

A dispatch to the navy department today said Campbell died last night from his injuries. His father, J. D. Campbell, lives in Nashville.

Clark's widow lives at San Diego, and his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Deming, at Weatherford, Okla.

ADOPT SPEAKEASY SYSTEM TO AVOID FURTHER HOLDUPS

Chicago—(AP)—The speakeasy plan has hit the banking world. Twice robbers held up the First State Bank of Fox River Grove, northwest of Chicago. The total loot was $5,300.

Richard Novak, the cashier, decided to adopt the speakeasy system. He had a steel reinforced door installed, with a buzzer and a peephole.

Now patrons of the bank must make their presence known and submit to Novak's scrutiny through the peephole he admits them. Strangers without good references stay out.

CHAIN STORES PLAN TO ENTER FARM FIELD

New York—(AP)—Chain stores are planning to go into the farming business on a gigantic scale, Professor Walter E. Pitkin of Columbia university says in an article in "The Country Home," a magazine.

Already, he says, one chain store company is sending an agent around the country with funds to buy or lease thousands of acres.

"The idea," Prof. Pitkin writes, "is to supply chain stores with food from chain farms. The experiment will first be tested on a small scale. If it works, there will be available millions of dollars for the acquisition of a veritable empire."

The same magazine quotes Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, as predicting that within a few years multi-million farming corporations will be coming to Wall Street for large scale financing.

QUARRY STRIKE ENDS AS WORKERS RETURN

Berlin—(AP)—A 12-day strike which kept 110 men idle at the Flynn Lohrville quarry was ended today.

The strike originated when a cutter demanded an assistant and a member of the union delivered an ultimatum to Ray Flynn, quarry manager. Flynn sent a communication to the union stating the committee handling the affair was not acting within its rights.

Friday night, the union voted favoring the management's understanding of the agreement between the union cutters and the management and the men returned to work today.

EATS GLASS AND METAL IN EFFORT TO AID RESEARCH

Chicago—(AP)—For more than a year Frederick Hoelzel has been eating pellets of metal, glass beads, strands of knotted thread, and twine.

He has even eaten gold and solid rubber—not because he likes their taste—but because he volunteered to aid University of Chicago physiologist in experiments which they hope will aid them in conquering indigestion.

Prof. Anton Julius Carlson, head of the university's physiological department, is directing the research, news of which became public today when it was announced that the experiment would be described in a book by Milton Mayer and John Howe.

The metal which Hoelzel eats mixed with the usual fare of a healthy person. He first offered himself because he suffered from severe stomach trouble while a high school student here. He came to Chicago from Germany and has been a student at both the University of Illinois at Urbana and the University of Chicago.

MASS TROOPS IN EFFORT TO HALT REBELS

Several Insurgents Killed and Others Made Prisoners in Skirmishes

Havana—(AP)—Fresh outbreaks in the eastern province of Cuba last night caused the government today to hurry additional troops into Oriente in the belief that rebels concentrated at a number of strategic points might attempt a surprise maneuver.

Three insurgents were killed and a number wounded and taken prisoners when one of the rebel groups was surprised. A considerable number of arms, a quantity of ammunition and other war material was seized. Three bombs exploded here but the damage was slight.

The government had issued a statement declaring its confidence in an immediate and successful termination of the uprising a few hours before the skirmishing was resumed. President Machado, back from Santa Clara since Saturday, was to confer with army heads in Oriente by telephone today.

The president had previously declared the revolt ended and proclaimed a tendency toward leniency in treatment of prisoners including General Mario G. Menocal, former president and Col. Carlos Mendieta.

Last night's encounter took place at the Canasi ranch near Caney. Lieut. Acosta in command of a small detachment of troops surprised a group of 50 rebels and opened fire upon them. Three fell dead and several were wounded.

One hundred and twenty-three hand-grenades were seized along with a number of rifles, pistols, and ammunition. Several other clashes in Oriente were unofficially reported but army headquarters would confirm only that at Caney.

Upon learning of the outbreaks, the president decided to make a personal tour of Havana in an effort to determine conditions and accompanied by several army officials left the palace.

It was reported in rebel circles that Miguel Mariano Gomez, former mayor and considered one of the foremost foes of Machado, had been deprived of his command of oppositionist forces in Havana because of his continued failure to participate in the revolt.

All rebel leaders of importance with the exception of Gomez are in prison and the fate of the revolt was declared to rest in Gomez's hands but that chief has not yet come out of hiding nor has he indicated a willingness to take over the command vacated when Menocal recognized as the leading spirit of the revolution, was captured.

Monroe—(AP)—William (Billy) Sunday, the evangelist, predicts war to the political party that makes modification of the prohibition laws a major issue.

He told a Green-co fair crowd his views yesterday, adding that he hoped to see this country "so dry that you will have to prime a man to spit."

Mrs. Sunday also recommended a wide wave of old time religion to combat materialism, companionate marriage, alimony hunters, birth control, evolution, gun chewing, and scantily clad women.

TEAPOT DOME OIL CASE WITNESS DIES ABROAD

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Word was received here today of the death in Cannes, France, of James E. O'Neill, oil man who became an exile from the United States to evade testifying in Teapot Dome oil lease conspiracy case.

O'Neill resigned the presidency of the Pacific Oil and Gas company, with headquarters at Independence, Kan., in 1924 and a few months later went to Europe. He said he preferred to live abroad rather than testify against friends.

O'Neill was 64 years old.

Get $5,000 In Holdup Of State Bank

Cumberland—(AP)—Five men using a machine gun robbed the State bank of Cumberland of $5,000 today. One was believed wounded by a deputy sheriff in an exchange of shots on the main street.

Six persons were forced to lie on the floor by four men who entered while the fifth remained in an automobile with the machine gun.

Milton Hummelt, 19, messenger, dashed out a rear door as the "hands up" command came and a block away found G. L. Miller, assistant cashier. Miller summoned Bert Myers, deputy sheriff.

Myers obtained a shotgun, commandeered a car, and drove down the street as the robber car sped away. Machine gun bullets were being sprayed from the raiders' vehicle as Myers neared it and fired. A man in the rear seat slumped as though shot, witnesses said.

More machine gun bullets forced Myers to quit the chase. No one in the street was wounded although several buildings were struck.

Inside the bank, two of the robbers stood guard while two others gathered the money. In the bank were F. W. Miller, president; E. L. Miller, vice president; A. H. Miller, cashier; Grant Holkins, bookkeeper; Eleanor Miller, assistant cashier and Evelyn Morey, stenographer.

MARKETS AFFECTED BY LONDON CRISIS

Cotton Rises but Stocks Are Depressed With Light Selling

New York—(AP)—Financial markets were variously affected today by news of the political crisis in London.

The prospect of adoption of a successful economy program by a coalition government in Great Britain was viewed bullishly in the cotton market, and some deliveries pushed up as high as $130 a bale.

Stocks, however, were again unsettled. The decline in that market was merely a continuation of the reactionary tendency of last week, but some brokers believed the British situation was an aggravating factor. Selling was in small volume.

Several prominent issues lost $1 to $3 a share early, including U. S. Steel, American Telephone, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Allied Chemical, American Can, Johns Manville, Eastman, Westinghouse, Case and Bethlehem.

The British pound sterling continued to meet good support, cable transfers opening at $4.55, unchanged from the final level last week, and above the point at which gold might be lost by London to New York.

British government bonds encountered but little pressure, although the United Kingdom 5 per cent issue of 1927 gained a fraction.

O'Neill resigned the presidency of the Pacific Oil and Gas company, with headquarters at Independence, Kan., in 1924 and a few months later went to Europe. He said he preferred to live abroad rather than testify against friends.

O'Neill was 64 years old.

O'Neill was one of two witnesses who fled to Europe to escape testifying in the Teapot Dome cases. Harry M. Blackmer, of Denver, former chairman of the Midwest Refining company, the other man whose testimony was sought, is still abroad.

M'DONALD OUT AS LEADER OF LABOR PARTY

Resumes Office as Prime Minister of New National Government

London—(AP)—J. Ramsay MacDonald, faced with a split in the ranks of his own Labor party, today handed King George his resignation as prime minister and accepted the king's mandate to form a new government in which all three of the major parties will be represented.

He stepped out as head of the Labor government and in again as prime minister of the new national government in 20 minutes with the king during which he submitted to the monarch the personnel of his new cabinet.

Then he kissed the king's hand, an age-old ceremony, marking the beginning of his service as prime minister under the new regime.

Tomorrow or the next day King George will call a special meeting of the privy council at Buckingham Palace to swear in members of the new government. Within two or three days organization of the new national government should be complete.

Parliament, under the emergency arrangements made before the end of the last session, can be called on seven days notice. It will take a week or longer to draft legislation to meet the national situation and probably parliament will swing into action only in September.

Would Restore Credit

The new cabinet also has a war of sorts on its hands. Its campaign will be to restore Great Britain's threatened credit in the world of international finance.

Balancing the budget will be the one task of the national government and it is not expected to last more than a few months during which economy bills will be rushed through the house of commons.

After the new finances are straightened out there will doubtless be a general election and the political situation will be clarified.

The present crisis developed two weeks ago with the report by the government economy committee calling attention to the urgent necessity of balancing the budget in the face of a threatened deficit of $500,000,000.

For two weeks the cabinet has been in emergency session debating measures which would wipe off that deficit, but opposition to measures which it evolved culminated in Mr. MacDonald's resignation.

The trades union congress, backbone of the labor movement, interposed objections and there developed a split in the cabinet.

In the new government, which probably will not hold office beyond next Pan. 1, the ministers of the retiring cabinet who supported the prime minister probably will have portfolios.

Those who opposed him may fight the program of the national government in parliament, but from present indications they are not likely to have much chance of success.

Mr. MacDonald's plan is to form a small national cabinet of 12 or 14 ministers instead of the usual 20. The retiring labor cabinet had 21 members. The smaller group will be more widely for quick action.

I shall be in the new government," said J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, as he left Mr. MacDonald's office.

Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, also seemed certain to remain and there will probably be half a dozen others as a labor bloc in the emergency cabinet.

At least nine members of the retiring cabinet were resolutely opposed to some of the economy measures, and these probably will have no place in the national government.

Crude Oil Is Boosted To $1 Per Barrel In Two States

CAMPAIGN OF 2 GOVERNORS IS SUCCESSFUL

First Raise Announced by Phillips Petroleum Company Yesterday

Oklahoma City.—(P)—Crude oil prices have risen again to $1 a barrel in two states of the mid-continent area as the result of a gubernatorial campaign which included the establishment of martial law.

The Phillips Petroleum company, a major purchaser, announced the posting of top prices of $1 in Oklahoma and Kansas and 72 cents in Gray-co, Tex., effective at 7 a. m. yesterday.

The action came 19 days after Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, expressing concern over the night of small producers, called on Oklahoma National guardsmen to enforce a shutdown order, in which he later was joined by Governor Ross S. Sterling of Texas. Prices at that time ranged as low as 10 cents a barrel.

Governor Harry H. Woodring of Kansas, who declared himself in "complete accord" with the program reported that a major purchasing company, which he declined to identify, had offered to raise its price to $1 a barrel in Kansas.

May Close Pool

As a result, he said, it was possible an order of the Kansas Public Service commission declaring a shutdown today of the Ritz-Canton Pool wells might be withdrawn. He announced the unnamed company was negotiating with other purchasers to learn whether they would meet the price.

The Phillips company, pointing out in a statement that supplies for its refineries in Kansas City, Okmulgee, Okla., and Borger, Tex., were diminishing, said it was increasing its rates "rather than take oil out of storage which cost us in excess of $1 a barrel."

"Present gasoline prices," it said, "do not justify higher prices for crude oil, but we recognize that oil cannot be produced at the present prices."

Prices of 60 cents per barrel were announced for Hutchinson, Carson and Moore-co, in Texas, for 40 gravity and above, with a 2-cent differential for each degree below that grade.

The company expressed the belief production now held back would be released. Statisticians estimated approximately 1,000,000 barrels of oil daily was withheld from the market in the area.

Soldiers Still Serve

The effect of the price increase on the reign of martial law in Oklahoma and Texas was not determined immediately. Governor Murray, however, has declared his intention to curb production of Oklahoma wells until the prices reach a minimum of $1 a barrel. "Stripper" wells, the minor producers, are exempted.

National guardsmen at Kilgore, Tex., headquarters for a four-county zone placed under martial law by Governor Sterling, were fighting an outbreak of incendiarism today.

Two churches, the Presbyterian and Methodist, were burned and attempts were made to burn four others.

Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commanding the troops, expressed the opinion the happenings might have been designed to attract attention from outlying sections of the field. Six men were held for investigation and 400 cavalrymen maintained a patrol throughout the military district.

Memphis, Tenn.—(P)—Machinery for a permanent unemployment relief organization in the Mississippi Valley states was set in motion today at a conference called by Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma.

The conference recessed until tomorrow after the election of Representative Frank Held, Republican, Illinois, as permanent chairman, and the adoption of recommendations that each governor of the valley states commission name five representatives who would be subject to the call of the permanent conference.

Another recommendation provided for another meeting in September at St. Louis, New Orleans, Hot Springs, Ark., or Memphis.

Resolutions, calling upon the federal government to match all state funds for road work and urging the expedition of the river and flood control program, were expected to be considered this afternoon.

Addressing the conference, Governor Murray suggested state and federal employees should be required to offer from 5 to 15 per cent of their salaries to go into a fund for the benefit of the jobless.

"This conference should not go on record as favoring an extra session of congress," he said. "We should do nothing to embarrass President Hoover."

Urging early completion of the federal construction program, he said "it is the duty of a government to provide for its people."

WORK STARTS ON RELIEF PROGRAM FOR UNEMPLOYED

Gifford Spends Weekend Discussing Situation With President

Washington.—(P)—After spending the weekend with President Hoover in the Virginia mountains discussing ways and means of meeting the unemployment problem, Walter S. Gifford, national relief director, today began the work of setting up his organization.

Arrangements were made for headquarters to be established in the commerce department building. All the information gathered since last fall by the Hoover Emergency Committee on Unemployment was laid before the head of the American Telephone and Telegraph company by Fred C. Croxon, his assistant and acting chairman of the emergency committee.

President Hoover discussed all phases of the problem with Mr. Gifford at his Rapidan camp, a steady rain keeping the chief executive and the relief director indoors since early Saturday.

More than 50 members of an advisory committee are to render service in the work, along with volunteers and hired experts for technical phases.

While the national organization was being set up, telegrams were received by President Hoover from Governors Emmerson of Illinois, Winant of New Hampshire, and Rolph of California, assuring him of their cooperation with the new group.

In New York state, Governor Roosevelt was preparing a unemployment message to the special session of the legislature convening Tuesday.

Other developments on the subject throughout the country included: An offer by Senator Couzens of Michigan to donate $1,000,000 to Detroit's jobless provided $9,000,000 is raised from other sources.

The study by a committee of the National Electric Light association of possibilities of guaranteeing employment to public utility workers. Adoption by many governors and state superintendents of education of a movement to induce the unemployed of school age to return to school.

The furnishing of employment to local workers at Tarrytown, New York, by John D. Rockefeller, through construction work valued at $500,000.

Sending of fall gardening seed by the American Red Cross to tens of thousands of rural families to avert a possible winter food shortage in drought sections.

Over the week-end there was no demand for a special session of congress to deal with unemployment.

Hold Conference

Memphis, Tenn.—(P)—Means for relief of widespread unemployment in the Mississippi Valley was sought today at a conference of representatives of states affected.

Governor W. H. Murray of Oklahoma, who called the conference, said he would make no effort to force any plan of his own upon the convention. It would, he said, be concerned only with providing for immediate employment needs and ascertaining ways and means of obtaining necessary funds.

Said Representative Reid, Republican, Illinois, would read the call for the conference.

Clarence Douglas, a Republican, a colonel on Governor Murray's staff, and special representative of the Inland Waterways corporation, probably will be selected as chairman.

Douglas announced he would recommend creation of an inter-state employment commission with governors, senators, congressmen, mayors and county commissioners among its membership.

This commission would urge expedition of the national building program, with special emphasis on public buildings, state highways, river and harbor improvement and flood control. He said approximately $1,500,000 was available for such work.

IDAHO TOWNS THREATENED BY FOREST FIRES

Governor Calls Out Troops to Assist in Fighting Flames

Boise, Idaho.—(P)—Forest fires that for nearly a week have defied the efforts of more than 500 fighters to halt them continued today to menace a cluster of little mining towns, two of which already have been wiped out. In the Boise basin, 15 miles north of here.

As a result of the onrush of the flames Gov. C. Ben Ross ordered 100 Idaho national guardsmen to leave for Placerville this morning to join the nearly exhausted citizens of the hamlets.

The governor, in ordering the troops into action, said an emergency condition prevailed in that the watersheds of the Boise and Payette valleys were endangered. The troops will move under Col. F. C. Hummel, of Boise, in command of the Idaho regiment of engineers.

After subsiding for 13 hours, the conflagration broke loose last night and again threatened Grimes Pass, Pioneersville and Garden Valley, as all able bodied residents fought to save them from the fate which overtaken Quartzburg and Granite Creek last week.

Both these towns were wiped out, as were two mines.

Salvation Army and Red Cross workers continued to provide for the several hundred refugees who have fled from their homes and ranches.

Crosses Boundary

Fernie, B. C.—(P)—Forest fires swung northward over the international boundary last night and drove ranchers and settlers from their property to the extreme southeastern corner of British Columbia, around Newgate, Flagstone and Dorr.

The flames entered territory that has had only two light showers since June 1. Dorr is about ten miles north of the Montana international boundary and Flagstone is midway between the boundary and Dorr.

Boise, Idaho.—(P)—A hundred Idaho National guardsmen, ordered to the forest fire lines by Governor C. Ben Ross, moved out of Boise today for emergency duty near the imperiled towns of Pioneersville and Grimes Pass.

Fire fighters numbering about 500 on the entire 40-mile front spent the night and early part of the day digging trenches and back firing in an attempt to hold the flames.

FACE CRISIS IN CHINA AS FLOOD SLOWLY RECEDES

Government Beseet by Possibilities of Disorders Among Refugees

Nanking—(AP)—Officials of the Nationalist government are given cause for grave concern by the possibility of disorders, growing out of a social and political upheaval throughout central China, with Communist instigation, following the subsidence of floods that are the worst in 500 years.

Dr. Wei Kuo-Cheng, director of the financial bureau of Hupei province, center of the flood area, arriving at Nanking today to confer with Nationalist officials, told the Associated Press 10,000,000 persons are absolutely destitute in his province alone.

He said there probably are more than 15,000,000 destitute in the adjoining provinces of Anhwei, Kiangsi and Hunan.

When 25,000,000 destitute people without homes, food or clothing, are released from restraints the floods have imposed upon them, herculean efforts will be required to stave off a grim battle for food.

Hupei province's normal income is 1,000,000 dollars a month, of which half must be paid to the army who otherwise become lawless. Even this small revenue will be uncollectable for the remainder of 1931.

The national treasury likewise was unprepared to face the present flood crisis as it already has been drained by civil war and long-drawn Anti-Communist campaigns. Even if Nanking's proposed domestic loan of 10,000,000 dollars Mexican were increased to 50,000,000 dollars, as the legislative yuan (committee) recently proposed, it would quickly be exhausted in the face of needs of vast multitudes.

A search of Chinese annals shows that in the fifteenth century, during the Ming dynasty, the Wuhan area, comprising the cities of Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang, became so badly flooded that only turtle and serpent hills, behind Wuchang, remained above the water. Today that situation is repeated.

These two hills are the scene of pitifully inadequate relief efforts by the military, the only branch of the government that so far has attempted to alleviate the sufferings of Wuhan area's refugees multitudes. More than 400,000 refugees have been herded together on these hills.

Diseases can not be combated by the military, which lacks medical supplies. Refugees are drinking the flood waters. Thousands of others are suffering from fever and dysentery.

Daily the swirling Yangtze is carrying off its quota of more than 1,000 bodies. There is no place to bury them.

The Yangtze is dropping two inches daily, but at this rate it would require six weeks to drain the flooded area.

Water still covers the Hankow bund to a depth of seven feet.

STATE SECRETARIES END 15TH MEETING

Wisconsin Official Is Appointed to Executive Committee

Bryce Canon National Park, Utah—(AP)—Twenty secretaries of state have wound up their fifteenth annual convention with election of Ernest N. Haston, secretary of state of Tennessee, as president of the national association and Milton H. Welling, secretary of state of Utah, as vice president.

Haston succeeds Ernest L. Sprague, secretary of state of Rhode Island, while Welling takes the position left vacant by the advancement of Haston.

The majority of the delegates, following the election yesterday, returned by train to Salt Lake City, their convention headquarters, which they left last Tuesday night on a tour of national parks of southern Utah and northern Arizona.

Robert Byrne, of North Dakota, remains as secretary of the association, while Enoch D. Fuller was named treasurer to succeed Welling.

The executive committee as appointed by President Haston consists of Sprague, Secretaries of State William J. Stratton of Illinois; Theodore Dammann of Wisconsin, and W. P. Blackwell of South Carolina.

The 1932 convention city had not been decided upon. The secretaries voted to hold their next meeting in November, after the general election.

Mrs. Nellie E. Rosenthal, the missing man's mother, revealed that she was ready to meet the demands of his kidnapers.

She Thought It Was Love

"The man of her dreams," he seemed—out there on the sun-lit beach. But the first time they danced together—romance fled!

A man and a maid by the Summer sea. Long lazy hours on the beach together. "It's love!" she told herself and thrilled with happiness ... Then came the dance—the discovery that almost broke her heart. How could she ever have thought she cared for him—a man who could be guilty of "B.O." (body odor)!

Hot weather no excuse It was breathlessly hot as they danced together. But that was no excuse in her eyes. The "B.O." offender is never forgiven, no matter what the weather may be.

Take no chances. Carelessness may cost success ... popularity ... even love itself. Make Lifebuoy your toilet soap—then you know you're safe from offending even on the hottest, stickiest day.

CROWDS GREET LINDY, ANNE IN JAPAN TOWN

Flying Pair Reach Nemuro After Hard Flight of 5 Days

Nemuro, Japan.—(AP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh finally reached Nemuro today after having spent five days and made four forced landings in negotiating the 597 miles from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, via the foggy Kurile Island route.

Leaving Lake Annoro, Kunashiri island, 50 miles north of here, where they were forced to descend yesterday, at 7:25 a. m. (5:52 p. m. Sunday E. S. T.), the Lindberghs landed here at 7:51 a. m. (5:51 p. m. E. S. T.) while the shout of "Ban-zai" went up from a great crowd which had assembled to welcome them.

The fliers were hurried ashore in a launch, escorted by city officials. They raised their hands in acknowledgment of the tremendous ovation. Mrs. Lindbergh bowed and smiled as hundreds of school children waved Japanese and American flags and chorused "welcome."

The colonel smiled and said: "We are a bit late."

Hurried to their hotel for a moment's rest, the Lindberghs were soon forced to come to their balcony and acknowledge the tribute of immense throngs that gathered in the adjacent streets. Again the colonel spoke.

"We are glad to be in Nemuro," he said. "Thank you; thank you."

The Lindberghs then withdrew to their rooms, where hot baths had been prepared in the vat-like Japanese tubs.

Just before their landing, the Lindberghs radioed a message to the people of Nemuro, saying:

"We have been deeply impressed with the sympathy and assistance of the Japanese people," they said. "Especially the citizens of Nemuro, since our departure from Petropavlovsk. We wish to express our hearty thanks from the air."

When the couple took off for the Kasumigaura naval base, near Tokyo, the official finish of their flight, was not immediately learned. However, they probably will leave early Tuesday.

The 512-mile flight from here to Kasumigaura is expected to require more than seven hours.

Tokyo.—(AP)—High government officials apparently did not take seriously the report today that the suspicions of certain authorities had been aroused by the landings of Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on waters in prohibited zones in the Kurile islands.

Rengo, a semi-official Japanese news agency, said today "suspicions" had been aroused because of the course followed by Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh along a certain portion of the Kurile island route.

The news agency said Japanese authorities contended that the famous aviator and his wife had flown over prohibited areas and had descended twice in lakes where landings were prohibited.

SHIOCTON HARDWARE STORE IS ENTERED

Second Robbery Within Last Week Is Reported to Sheriff

Burglars Saturday night broke into the Seiffert Hardware Co., at Shiocton and made away with tires, films, rifle, fishing tackle and other articles according to word received here by Sheriff John Lappen. Entrance to the building was gained by breaking a rear window in the store.

The burglary was the second within a few days at Shiocton. The first occurred last week when someone broke into the Greenwald general merchandise store and stole flour and two barrels of twine.

Sheriff's officers are following up on one or two clues.

No new development in the hold up of the Metz restaurant at Little Chute have been reported to the sheriff. However, persons in the place at the time of the holdup have a good description of the men and hope to trace them.

ARABS PROTEST AGAINST USING SEALED ARMORIES

Jerusalem.—(AP)—Protesting against the use of sealed armories in ousting Jewish villages, the entire Arab population of Palestine was on strike today and authorities feared disturbances.

Military authorities have taken charge in Nablus where a British police officer and six Arabs were injured in a clash last night. The Arabs hurled stones at the police and the latter fired on their aggressors when they refused to disperse.

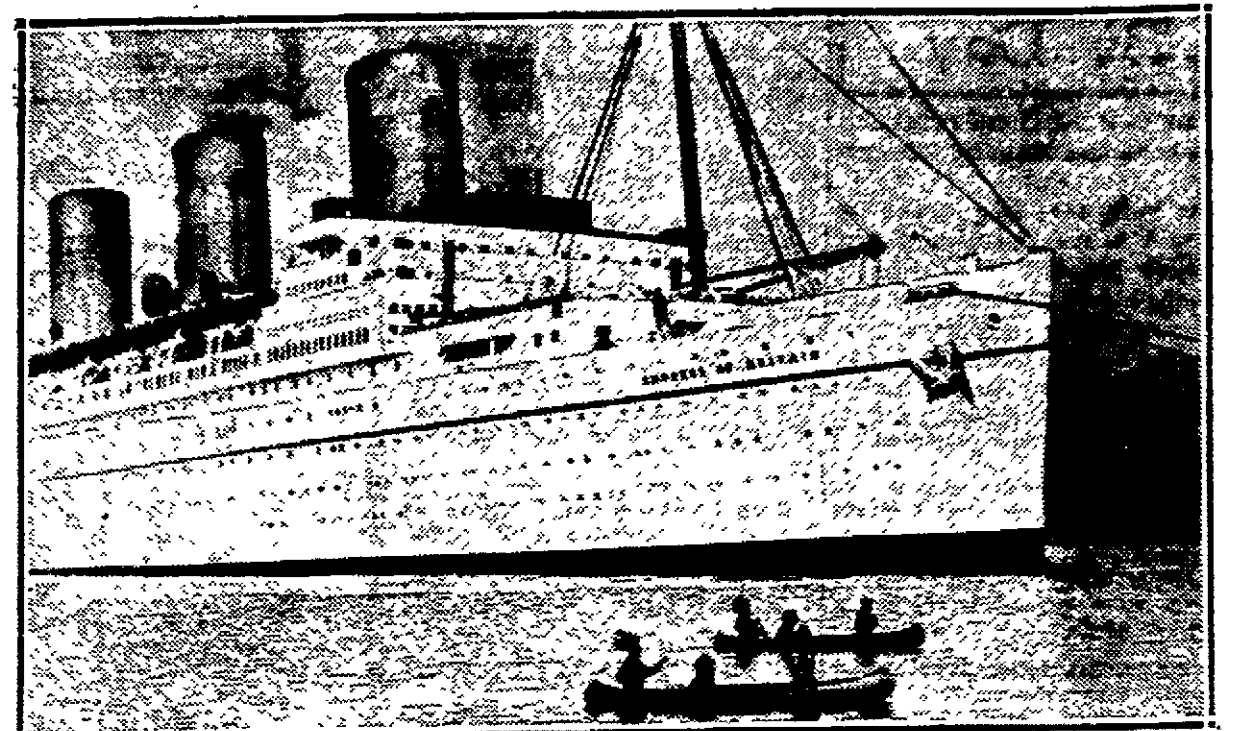

Armored cars and troop reinforcements have been sent for to patrol the district. There has been rioting there for several days and a few demonstrators have been arrested but the country as a whole has been quiet.

The Arab executive called the strike, the Jewish Telegraph agency said, after the government had supplied isolated villages with armories for their protection.

Contrast Between Ancient and Modern

It's a scene of striking contrast in ancient and modern navigation that's pictured here, with the tiny canoes of Indians—once the only "sailors" on the St. Lawrence River—dwarfed alongside the white hull of the giant new liner Empress of Britain. Captain Latouche of the liner had just been proclaimed a chief of the Six Nations Indians and given the name of "Swiftest Rider of Mighty Waters."

CHICAGO MAN IS SOUGHT AS KILLER

Believe Lester "Blackie" Faust Killed Woman at Kenosha

Chicago.—(AP)—Police said today they were seeking Lester "Blackie" Faust, a restaurant dish-washer, on suspicion of killing Mrs. Ann Patterson, red-haired Chicagoan, after a drinking party at a Wisconsin summer resort party.

Lieut. John Sullivan said, the information came from Mrs. Rose Crawford, sister of Faust.

Two witnesses in the case, Mrs. Alma Leadbetter and N. B. Nelson, were taken from Chicago to Kenosha, Wis., yesterday.

Kenosha.—(AP)—An acquaintance of at least five years, authorities said, existed between Mrs. Anna Patterson, strangled to death during a drinking party, and Lester (Blackie) Faust, alias Joe Miller, who was sought today on a first degree murder charge.

Identification of the suspect as the "Joe Miller" who was arrested in 1926 at a Twin Lakes cottage with Mrs. Patterson, her husband, and two others, was made from photographs.

When shown a picture of Faust, furnished by police to the fugitive's sister, Detective Peter Turkelson recognized him as the man who served a prison sentence with Mrs. Patterson's husband on robbery charges.

Previously, Mrs. Alma Leadbetter and Neils Nelson, Chicagoans, held on charges of being accessories before and after the fact in the slaying, had identified the picture as that of the man who accompanied them on the ride to the village of Silver Lake, near here, where the woman's body was found.

Authorities said the search for Faust centered in Indianapolis on the basis of information given by his sister and a former employer. It was believed he fled there upon his return to Chicago from the automobile ride during which Mrs. Patterson died.

Mrs. Leadbetter and Nelson, meanwhile, were to be arraigned on charges of complicity. They have been held in the county jail since they waived extradition and were brought here from Chicago.

District Attorney Morris Barnett said Mrs. Patterson's death climaxed a drinking party enroute to Channel Lake. He said he learned she succumbed about 1 a. m. last Thursday after she complained of feeling ill and walked into a woods by the roadside, accompanied by Faust.

After a long wait, the district attorney said, Nelson and Mrs. Leadbetter followed them and found Mrs. Patterson dead, the two witnesses claimed. He said, they submitted to Faust's plan to place the body on the railroad tracks near Silver Lake under threats of death. Having disposed of the body, all three fled to Chicago.

New York.—(AP)—Wall Street was inclined to take a hopeful view today of the prospect for formation of a coalition government in England to deal with the budget crisis.

The resignation of the Labor cabinet failed to have important repercussions in the financial markets in Wall Street. Stocks continued their slow decline of last week, and foreign bonds turned somewhat heavy. The British pound sterling was but a shade lower, but continued to hold above the point at which London might lose gold to New York.

One of Wall Street's most prominent bankers said informally that he felt the British situation was being greatly exaggerated because of the "bitter political controversy" in banking circles generally that there is no parallel between the British and German situations.

Softball Game Features Street Department Picnic

Impolite as it seemed, the city officials trimmed their guests, street department employees, in a so-called softball game at the annual street department picnic at Stroche's island Saturday. It took six umpires to keep the contest from degenerating into a massacre, but eventually nine innings were played, with a final score of 16 to 10.

The game was tied until the ninth stanza, when the city officials made six runs. Two home runs were made by John Roach, president of the fire and police commission, who with Harvey Kittner made up the battery for the officials. Street department batteries were Theodore Albrecht, street commission, and Walter Gmeiner, third ward alderman.

As manager of the winning team, Bachman accepted a challenge from Mr. Mack to a game with the county board. The game will be played as soon as the city team has recovered from its creaking limbs and growing muscles.

There were several horseshoe contests and card games, but outside of the baseball game the food provided by the city commissaries, Richard Groth and Walter Gmeiner, was the principal attraction of the day. The array was savoury, but hardly a model of dietetics—fried perch, baked ham, sauerkraut and wieners, cheese, pickles, potato salad, rye bread and pie.

C. D. Thompson, chairman of the street and bridge committee, was chairman of arrangements for the affair. The expense of the picnic, usually borne by the city, was paid this year by the officials.

FEDERAL AGENTS GET ALLEGED CAR THIEF

Robert McVey Wanted Here for Theft of Hortonville Automobile

Robert McVey, 31, arrested at Winona, Minn., and charged by Sheriff John Lappen with stealing a car from a Hortonville garage, has been turned over to federal authorities, the sheriff said Monday morning. He will be taken to St. Paul and tried there on a charge of transporting a stolen car from one state to another.

He was turned over to the federal government when he refused to waive extradition to Wisconsin.

Arrested at Winona on suspicion several days ago, McVey had in his possession keys for the car stolen at Hortonville and a garage rental slip. The keys appeared to have been made from a saw blade. He also had a map which carried the notation on the side, "This is a small take. You can wait here. The boys will be here or across the tracks."

McVey maintains he received the car from a man named Johnson, who said it had been stolen at Joliet, Ill. Johnson's description, according to Winona police, tallies very much with the description of Roy Johnson who, with Gale Bandy, headed a store burglarizing ring in Wisconsin last year and who is wanted for escaping from the Wausau jail. Pictures of Johnson have been forwarded to Winona authorities.

The Minnesota authorities are seeking identity of a gang of filling station robbers working near there. That is how they happened to pick up McVey.

WOMAN INJURED IN CRASH AT QUINNEY

Mrs. James P. Williams of Madison was injured at 2:30 Sunday afternoon when the coach in which she was riding with her husband and a coupe driven by William Rief of Stockbridge collided on Highway 55 at Quinney, about 4 miles south of the village of Stockbridge. Mr. Rief, accompanied by Harry Eldred, also of Stockbridge, was turning out upon the highway when the Williams car came along.

Mrs. Williams was thrown out of the car. Her left arm was cut and bruised and it is possible that she suffered internal injuries. She was removed to St. Agnes hospital at Fond Du Lac, where X-rays will be taken. Aside from minor cuts and bruises sustained by Mr. Williams, the other occupants of the two cars were uninjured. The cars were not badly damaged.

Gerhardt Jensen, Calumet-co sheriff, and a motorcycle officer, decided that the accident was unavoidable.

The other youth is Zigmund Grabczyk, 18, Marinette. He escaped from a reformatory farm Aug. 21. He is described as being slender, and with a sallow complexion.

ADVOCATE USE OF AMERICAN BOATS

Washington.—(AP)—Chairman Stone of the Farm Board said today that the board would endeavor to insert a provision in any contracts covering wheat sales to China that the cargoes be shipped in American boats.

Stone made this statement today after American ship owners had criticized the exchange with Brazil which did not specify that the wheat and coffee involved should be transported in American vessels. In the Brazilian contract the Farm Board Grain Stabilization corporation agreed to trade 25,000,000 bushels of wheat for 1,050,000 bags of coffee. The shipping charges amount to more than $1,000,000.

Thus far China has presented no offer in reply to the board's statement that the grain stabilization corporation would be glad to negotiate with that government for the sale of wheat. Inquiries have mentioned 15,000,000 bushels as the possible amount, but it may be more.

CLEVELAND TO AGAIN BE HOST TO U. S. PILOTS

Eleventh National Air Races to Open in Ohio Next Saturday

Cleveland.—(AP)—Cleveland will become aviation's "ousting field" for a week beginning next Saturday. Knights and ladies of the air will vie in tournament for $100,000 in prizes and valuable trophies in the eleventh annual national air races.

They will be brought directly into competition with each other in derbies and mixed races.

One derby already has started from Santa Monica, Calif.

With individual prizes, a sweepstake award will go to the man or woman who earns the best percentage according to a prearranged handicap formula for all planes.

The races will inaugurate a series of straight-away speed dashes over a certified course of one mile, high marks in each class to be set up as American National Air Race records and contested for annually.

Closed course events will be held over a 10-mile track. They will include free-for-alls for men and women, mixed races, sportsman pilot events, autogiro and amphibian races, and the Thompson trophy race, a 100-mile race open to men.

"The races are not a dazzling dress parade," the contest committee says, "but a proving grounds for the industry's products. Benefits derived accrue to the industry for the greater development of aeronautics."

This year the free-for-all events in all classes will encourage new competition, while the speed dashes over a one-mile straight-away course are destined to create new rivalry and establish new American records.

"The concentration of a number of derbies into one major handicap race will unquestionably make this the largest competitive mass flight in the history of aeronautics."

The races will be held at Cleveland Municipal airport which will be host to the airmen annually for five years, and possibly for 10, following action of the National Aeronautics association in assigning Cleveland as a "permanent home" for the classic.

Kaukauna was represented by Matthew Van Dalin, who also was fined $10 and costs for drunkenness. Van Dalin was brought in by Chief R. H. McCarthy of Kaukauna. He was arrested Sunday.

Alvin Bartz, 1414 W. Spencer st. was fined $10 and costs for operating a car without a driver's license. He was arrested Saturday night by Officer Peter Van Oudenhoven who charged improper lights driving without a driver's license, and driving without the proper license plates. Bartz was arrested after an accident in which his car was demolished and six others damaged. The first accident occurred when Bartz and Harold Coenen, Wrightstown, collided. While their cars were on the road George Kamp, Combined Locks, Ralph Hoin, Appleton, Herbert Dreger, Appleton, Louis Brys, Little Chute and an unidentified driver crashed into the wreckage. The latter four cars had damaged fenders and lights.

SENTENCE THREE MEN FOR STEALING SUGAR

Held at Waupaca-co Jail as Judge Parks Considers Parole

Three Manawa men, Thomas Flanagan, 28, William Nicolai, 21, and Ronald Colwell, 20, were sentenced to two to three years in Green Bay reformatory Monday morning when they pleaded guilty of stealing ten 100-pound bags of sugar from the Borden company on the night of July 27, when they appeared before Judge Byron B. Parks, Stevens Point, Monday morning.

The case was taken under advisement by the judge and the men may be paroled. They are being held in Waupaca-co jail until a final decision is made.

The men walked into the office of L. D. Smith, Waupaca, district attorney, Saturday and gave themselves up. They pleaded guilty before Justice S. W. Johnson and were bound over to circuit court.

Waupaca authorities first learned identity of the thieves when they heard three men were selling sugar at a reduced price near Big Falls, Waupaca-co. Questioning of Nicolai's mother brought out on the boys had the sugar. Then they gave themselves up to authorities.

M'DONALD OUT AS LEADER OF LABOR PARTY

likely to represent him in the cabinet.

Took Office in 1929

The Ramsay MacDonald government, second Laborite ministry in British history, came into power on the heels of a general election in 1929, assuming office on June 9. Thus it had been in power for more than 24 months, a period crowded with many important and far-reaching developments both nationally and internationally.

The first Labor cabinet was formed in January, 1924, but could maintain its hold on parliament for less than ten months. The Conservatives returned to power and for the next five years remained in office under Stanley Baldwin.

With the new general elections called in 1929, the Laborites succeeded in getting a plurality in the house of commons, capturing 287 votes while the Conservatives took 260. The Liberals with 59 votes held the balance of the power and it was largely through their suffrage that the MacDonald ministry was able to continue in office.

MacDonald entered his second ministry with a policy for immediate consideration of the problems of unemployment, reduction of armaments, the evacuation of the Rhineland and closer cooperation with the League of Nations.

In the domestic field he had his hands full and it was only by Liberal support he was able to hold the commons in line. Unemployment mounted steadily and on last Jan. 27 the figures were 2,608,406, representing an increase of 1,135,004 over the same time a year ago.

The imperial conference of this year and the Indian round table conference were important events in the life of the government.

At the imperial conference, the status of the dominions as self governing units of the British empire was further strengthened. No agreement was reached, however, on closer economic relations between the mother country and the dominions as had been proposed, particularly by Canada.

The round table conference produced a plan for a federal constitution in India. The Gandhi followers who have been demanding complete independence boycotted the conference. Since then Mahatma Gandhi has declined to attend a second round table conference in London, but efforts are continuing to persuade him to change his mind.

In the international field, MacDonald carried out many of his policies. Trade relations with Soviet Russia were renewed although complete diplomatic relations were not. An agreement was reached that Russia was not to carry on propaganda in British possessions.

During the past two years the last British soldiers left the occupied territory in Germany and they were followed by the French and Belgians, leaving German territory unoccupied for the first time since the end of the war.

One of the biggest events of the MacDonald administration was the London five power disarmament conference early in 1930. Great Britain, the United States, France, Italy and Japan participated.

The conference resulted in agreement on certain general provisions by the five powers Great Britain, the United States and Japan reached an agreement on limitation of classes of ships which had not been limited at the previous Washington conference.

Negotiations then were started for a naval agreement between Great Britain, France and Italy, but these are still in a state of flux.

ACCIDENT TOLL REACHES TEN OVER WEEKEND

Car Crashes, Drownings and Airplane Accidents Account for Deaths

By the Associated Press

Accidents in Wisconsin over the weekend took a toll of 10 lives. Five were lost in automobile accidents; two persons were drowned; an air crash took the life of another while forest fires and poisoning accounted for two deaths.

Thrown from his automobile as it struck a pole and overturned near Cambridge, Loren Kampstad, 20, Cambridge, was fatally injured last night. He died in a hospital at Madison, early today.

Believed to have been overcome by smoke while fighting a forest fire on his father's farm near Richland Center, Edward Walsh, 36, died late Saturday night.

Injured in an automobile collision, Donald Fingerhut, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Fingerhut, died in a hospital at Baraboo today. He failed to regain consciousness since the accident with Westcott.

Matthew McDermott, 40, an assistant manager of the Stevens hotel of Chicago, was killed Saturday while enroute to Three Lakes, Wis., when the car in which he and two other men were riding, overturned between Mosinee and Wausau, Wis.

His Telephone Pole

Speeding to escape Dane-co traffic officers engaged in a reckless driving arrest campaign, Loren Kampstad, 20, Madison was fatally injured near Cambridge last night when his automobile swerved into a telephone pole.

A Chicagoan, Mrs. Esther Bear, 71, was fatally injured near Wausau in an automobile accident Saturday.

Mrs. George Miller, Milwaukee, occupant of the automobile which collided with the Bear machine, suffered a fractured leg.

Homer C. Myers, 35, son-in-law and law partner of Judge Willis Melville, Chicago, and his 7-year-old son, Melville, drowned yesterday while bathing in a pool at Irvine park at Chippewa Falls.

The father was carrying the boy on his shoulders toward a party of bathers standing on a sand bar when he suddenly called to his wife to get a boat, and sank. The bodies were recovered an hour later and taken to Chicago.

Witnesses to the tragedy said Myers apparently was seized with cramps.

With his biplane in flames, Orville Kirschenstein, 23, plunged to his death from an altitude of about 1,000 feet near the Fond du Lac airport yesterday.

Witnesses said the plane exploded in midair and fell into a spin. The pilot's charred body was extricated after flames had virtually destroyed the ship.

Kirschenstein had a private license and had been flying about four years. Airport employees said he was considered a competent pilot.

Killed By Poison

Illness resulting from eating green apples and green hazelnuts was blamed by doctors for the deaths of two Trout Lake children.

Stella Paulson, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paulson, died at Chippewa Falls, Saturday night. Last Monday her brother, Stanley, 20 months old, died while the parents were taking him to a doctor.

Three persons were slightly injured yesterday when an airplane on exhibition at the Ozaukee-co fair grounds stalled and fell about 150 feet shortly after the takeoff.

The occupants were Howard Rodken, 23, the pilot, Miss Caroline Ziesemann, 22, and Arnold Butt, 30, all of Cedarburg. They were given first aid at the fair grounds.

The force of the fall was broken when the plane struck high tension power lines at about a nose dive from an altitude of about 300 feet.

The plane was owned by Elmer Becker, Cedarburg motorcycle officer and president of the Wisconsin Traffic Officers' association.

MELLON CUT ON HAND IN LANDING ACCIDENT

New York.—(AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon returned to Europe today was cut on the hand by fragments of a flash light bulb and then because of a mistake in arrangements, was driven through town in a confiscated rum-runner's automobile.

The cut from the explosion bulb was slight and after treatment on board the liner, Mr. Mellon transferred to a cutter which landed him at the battery. Apparently his arrival at the point was unexpected and his automobile was waiting at the pier where the liner was to dock.

Casting about for an automobile for him customs officials pressed into service a confiscated car which until three weeks ago was being used for running smuggled liquor across the Canadian border.

In this automobile the secretary of the treasury rode through the financial district to the federal reserve bank where he held a conference with George L. Harrison, governor, prior to taking an afternoon train for Washington.

MORE THAN 80 PLANS IN FORCE TO AID WORKERS

Find Many U. S. Cities and Firms Are Using Unemployment Insurance Systems

BY ROLLIN M. CLARK
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Washington—(CPA)—With more than 80 plans in force in this country to furnish unemployment benefits or employment guarantees, as disclosed by a survey just published by the bureau of labor statistics, it can hardly be said that the United States is not experimenting with unemployment insurance. These systems are all private or voluntary, representing the effort of industry and labor to solve a problem that 18 foreign nations have met with public control or authority over state insurance or doles.

The American plans divide themselves into three broad general classes—the company type, joint-agreement plans and trade union plans. The company systems number 15 and cover about 115,000 employees, but of these only 50,000 were eligible for benefits in April when the survey was made. Joint-agreement plans now total 18. They were created by joint action of employers and trade unions and now cover 65,000 workers. The third type of plan, operated by labor itself, is found in approximately 50 separate instances but covers the least number of employees, 45,000.

Here Is Good Plan
The most significant of the American systems to date is found in Rochester, N. Y. It contemplates the stabilization of employment in the entire city instead of in one company or trade. Fourteen manufacturing companies which employ about one-third of the city's industrial employees are grouped in this venture. In normal times the employers finance the entire plan through a reserve fund built up by 2 per cent of their pay rolls. In emergencies, however, the reserve fund is expanded by contributions of employees and officials, representing 1 per cent of their salaries or wages. This sum is matched by the companies.

Benefits are paid to employees with at least a year's service, provided they are earning less than $30 a week. Maximum payments to them when out of work are $22.50 a week and in no case more than 60 per cent of the average weekly earnings. Benefits are payable for 6 to 15 weeks, depending upon length of service.

A company plan which seems to be gaining important recognition is that of a large soap manufacturing company of Cincinnati. This firm guarantees its employees 48 weeks of work a year at full pay. While it is limited to persons who have had at least six months' service and who have subscribed for a specified amount of the company's stock, at most 100 per cent of those eligible to participate have come into the plan.

It is this plan which is the basis of the proposal just advanced by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States for guaranteeing employment in the major industries of the country. The theory underlying the chamber's plan is that it will remove the uncertainty which has undoubtedly kept many persons from making needed "cases even" in the employed. In this way purchasing power will be maintained and business ultimately should show substantial gains.

The success of the plan, of course will rest upon the manner in which it is received. Industry. Action on the proposal would be voluntary, presumably through national trade associations affiliated with na-

Estelle Taylor Believes Dempsey Will Lose Suit

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)—Estelle Taylor, leaving on Saturday for an extended vaudeville tour, was reminded today that Jack Dempsey's friends are saying in connection with his filing a suit in Reno for divorce that Jack has never lost a lawsuit. He's had plenty of them, too.

"He's never lost a lawsuit in the six years of our married life," at any rate," Miss Taylor remarked. "I remember that he attributed this success to the fact that in each case he has taken my advice."

"Obviously, Dempsey is not taking Miss Taylor's advice in the present case. And legal opinion here, particularly on the part of Miss Taylor's lawyers, is that when Miss Taylor filed a petition for divorce in the California courts she may have done something that will throw rather a monkey wrench into the machinery of the Reno divorce mill. The argument in Hollywood is that most divorces at Reno are obtained, unofficially, by mutual consent. That is the party sued for divorce does not contest the fact that the other fellow really has established a legal residence in Nevada.

Miss Taylor does contest that fact. She contends that Dempsey's residence, and much of his property are in the state of California which, she claims, has accordingly the proper jurisdiction over his divorce proceedings. It would seem, however, that a specified number of workers could be guaranteed employment under the plan and this unquestionably would be a forward step.

And Miss Taylor's advisors believe that if Dempsey succeeds in obtaining a divorce in Nevada, he will be divorced in that state and no other until Miss Taylor obtains a divorce in California. Meanwhile, one result of Miss Taylor's proceedings is to tie up the mutual property of the Dempsey pair until her own suit for divorce is ended.

The car, by the way, which Dempsey gave his wife as a Christmas present last year and took away again recently while it was waiting to convey the actress from a tea in Beverly to her home, has not yet been returned. It is a handsome and expensive vehicle upon which the ex-champion placed the initials "E. T." when he presented it.

Miss Taylor's vaudeville tour takes her to various towns distant from both Hollywood and Reno. Among them are Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and New York.

THE WOLF AT THE DOOR

Like members of a quarreling family bickering over which room shall be used to serve breakfast while the hungry wait without, our political groups are at daggers' points on how to provide and handle the great sums necessary to tide the destitute over the coming winter.

There is agreement enough with President Hoover's recent statement that "the problem of unemployment and relief, whatever it may be, will be met" but the means to be employed, ah, that is a different question.

The President has so far indicated a determined flatfooted opposition to the federal government either providing the means or carrying on the work.

Mr. Hoover would probably, if it concerned him, oppose as strenuously the use of any government, state or municipal, for the purpose, because he carries a strong and fixed opinion, with stocks of human experience to support it, that organizations of the nature of the Red Cross or our own Community chests, trained, capable and free from the baneful effects of political influences, will do the work with less wastage and a higher degree of efficiency than it can otherwise be accomplished.

The recent experience of Detroit whereby it found itself floundering in graft, corruption and wastage, after spending about $17,000,000 for similar purposes, while straight to the point, is quite unnecessary. There is already too much proof.

Political systems need time to develop. There is no time to develop any new system, for the winter will be upon us.

News dispatches from the capital show that the President's plan involves a nation-wide drive for funds instead of a dipping into the thin public treasures which would have to be replenished through increased taxes. This seemingly involves an anomaly but in fact it is facing a strange but demonstrated human trait. Men who are able will give a thousand dollars for a worthy cause and tear their hair in frenzy at a tax increase of a hundred.

At least there will be no just call for governmental appropriation until the voluntary system proves its inadequacy.

If the opposition of Mr. Hoover were conceded to be correct in the claim that the care of the destitute is a governmental matter, it is not easy to see why the national government, so far removed from most of the country, should undertake or provide the funds but for the fact that everyone likes to pass the burden and when it finally gets to Washington it cannot go any further.

The mayor of every city is willing to pass the liability to the county or state government because his budget is made up and he knows that its increase, however good the reason, will make political capital for the opposition. It is about the same picture that appears before the governors. And yet, the people know that if the funds are raised locally and handled locally they will be spent fairer, go farther, and more likely accomplish their object better.

Statements like those of Governor Pinchot that no one can handle this burden but the national government are wild or dreamy.

Certainly Appleton can take care of its own people and if every community did likewise good results would ensue.

It will be said that cities like Detroit with auto plants down will be unable to take care of their many thousands of unemployed. It must be remembered that those cities have reaped the golden and diamond-studded stream of wealth that came with industrial success, have thousands of millionaires, and should be able to furnish help in a proportionately greater manner. If it came to the point where any city had to run up the white flag and call for assistance that call for assistance should first be sent to its state capital before going on to Washington.

While indications are that we may have a difficult winter, we do not subscribe to the down-in-the-mouth cackle of the lugubrious blues who act as if passing through a continual cemetery; but this is true beyond conjecture—that in any period of distress and hardship a people find an opportunity to show their mettle, "for the one worth while is the one with a smile when everything goes dead wrong," and when things have been handled in a ship-shape, human, intelligent fashion, those very people may well expect to emerge from such a storm of adversity in better shape than they ever entered it.

INFLUENCE OF GANDHI

Thomas Carlyle would have been interested in Gandhi's recent denial that he had any intention of setting himself up as the unofficial ruler of India.

Carlyle, following his famous formula, would have remarked dryly that Gandhi is the unofficial ruler of India whether he wants to be or not. He is by all odds the greatest man in the nation; and according to Carlyle, the greatest man in the nation always runs things, no matter who has the outward trappings of authority.

All of which serves once more to call attention to the strange position that Gandhi occupies in the modern world.

It isn't merely that this wizened, poverty-stricken little man can defy the majesty of the great British empire. In itself that would be remarkable enough, but it would not necessarily make the man a sign and a portent to make a flippant generation stop and take thought.

Beyond that lies the fact that Gandhi is a living denial of nearly all of the things that this generation—in America as well as in England—prizes most highly.

In a world that worships wealth he clings to poverty. In a world that bows to brute force he personifies the tremendous, terrifying power of the helpless. In a world that lives by machinery he sticks to the simplicities of a handicraft era. In a world grown cautious and skeptical he exults in a deep mysticism.

As a result—not in spite of these differences—he is, in truth, the unofficial ruler of India today, and the British empire parleys with him to learn whether it can keep India within the fold!

There is something exceedingly significant in this man's career. He puts our ideals in reverse—and proves stronger than we are. Will he, before he gets through, make some of us suspect uneasily that our ideals are somewhat in need of revision?

CONTROLLING AN OIL SURPLUS

During the past fifteen years the discovery and development of new petroleum fields has added immeasurably to the visible and estimated supply of this commodity.

In the opening and development of new fields, all considerations of demand, price or economical production are obliterated in a frantic effort to get all the oil possible out of the ground before the source of supply is drained by neighboring wells.

Along with the oil goes natural gas. It has been estimated that nearly 750 billion cubic feet of gas is blown into the air and lost every year, a quantity approximating the total annual consumption for domestic purposes in the United States.

The East Texas field, opened within the past two years, proved to be of bonanza character, and as gusher after gusher came in, the oil flooded and overwhelmed a market already faced with the serious problems of overproduction.

Unregulated production has resulted in terrific waste. Governor Murray of Oklahoma, while spectacular in his methods of damming the flood of petroleum there, is accomplishing a useful purpose in conserving the supply, even though he may not immediately attain his objective of a dollar-a-barrel price for oil.

Texas is following the lead of Oklahoma. Kansas also has joined in the shutdown movement, which action is claimed to be proper under authority vested in its Public Service commission.

Operators in all these states are falling in line, recognizing the need of control and regulation. This and the fact that at least three of the leading oil states have shown that they can act in concert is evidence of the progress of stabilization in one industry.

NEW YORK had the damdest fight last week end . . . yeah, six people killed, including THREE bandits . . . think of that, THREE . . . and only two policemen and a little four year old girl lost their lives . . . it's getting so the police will work the proportion down to three and two . . . but at least they split even on that one . . . Chicago will be getting downright jealous . . . there haven't been that many people killed in one crack down there for quite a time . . .

A Pennsylvania coal miner has discovered by accident that he owns a rare collection of old letters and stamps. And the price on them has gone up from zero to $100,000.

Look in the wastebasket, folks, you may be throwing away a fortune.

The Cheapskates

Tsk, tsk. A couple of fellows—grown men, too—were caught making and passing counterfeit money. It isn't that they were doing anything so unusual by counterfeiting, but they were only making QUARTERS!

With All Due Respect to Are—

"My son," said the parson to a small boy who was digging, "don't you know that it is a sin to dig on Sunday except in case of necessity?"

"Yes sir," replied the youngster.

"Then why don't you stop it?" asked the good man.

"'Cause this is a case of necessity," replied the young philosopher, "a feller can't fish without bait."

—Isabella P. Q.

There are a thousand and one different quandaries into which one can get including the quandary with the steep sides and tin cover into which our old favorite Uncle Wiggily once found himself. But what we started out to say was that no quandary is like unto that of the young lady about to buy a new hat who finds out that she looks like hell in a new Empress Eugenie model and yet feels that she's just GOTTA buy one.

Yep, in another month the ladies won't have any choice. They'll look queer in one of the new cock-eyed bonnets and they'll look queer if they don't wear one.

It's a long, sad story. But it's swell for the hat manufacturers.

SUBJECT TO MORTGAGE

"Who will buy a lot from me, High and dry and well located, On a street that's bound to be In the future populated. Pressed by other cash demands, I'm disposing of my lands, Who will take this off my hands, Subject to mortgage?"

"Here's another bargain rare, I've a dandy duplex dwelling Which I find I now can spare, At a loss this place I'm selling, Price and terms are very low, Cash this year is scarce and so I'll be glad to let it go, Subject to mortgage."

Personal Health Talks
By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

TUBERCULAR, TUBERCULOUS.

Numerous diseases are tubercular, such as leprosy, actinomycosis, syphilis, but only one is tuberculous. This will be news for numerous medical brethren, but if the brethren can only lay off their superiority complex or hoity-toity notions they'll learn a lot from this column, and I have the written assurances of a lot of them that they have.

For lay-readers who want to know, I may explain that tubercular is the adjective pertaining to tuberculosis. True, the name tuberculosis primarily signifies tubercle disease. Still, the adjective tubercular refers to tuberculosis and not to other diseases in which tubercles occur. Even as the inept use the term tubercular it is obvious they mean tuberculosis and not any other disease.

Tubercular pertains only to tubercle. Scientifically, in medical literature, the term tubercular may refer to the nature of leprosy or some other disease. Not all that purports to be scientific literature is good English, nor is it all good science either. But we may as well be right if we're going to use these terms at all. So far as the layman's parlance is concerned, I don't think he ever has occasion to speak or write about tubercles at all, so he may as well forget there is such a word as tubercular. Tuberculosis is the only adjective he need apply to tuberculosis.

While we are sniveling about this, I want to make a plea to real folks to discard the cheap little wisecrack term that so many dumbbells affect when they refer to tuberculosis. TB is not tuberculosis. Tbc. is an abbreviation for tuberculosis if you must be so succinct, but why all the diffidence about mentioning the name of the disease you're talking about? If you are trying to kid yourself or fool somebody else, why not go back to the good old dodge and just call it "weak lungs" or a "slight catarrhal trouble in the chest" or something like that?

If you're going to talk about tuberculosis at all, for heaven's sake, talk about it, and don't duck and dodge the question like a sniveling old maid trying to refer to her legs without referring to 'em.

This glib term "TB" came into use in the first place thru the antiquated policy of evasion which our medical fathers perforce followed. In an elder day it was as much as the patient's life was worth to tell him the germs of tuberculosis had been found in the sputum. So the doctors adopted a kind of secret symbol by means of which they could tell one another, in the patient's presence, that the microscope had revealed T. B. (tubercle bacilli), and the goofy patient had no inkling of what this meant. But there is no longer any purpose served by such evasion and so the term is too childish for even an intelligent layman to use now.

It is not exactly good news for the patient to learn that his trouble is tuberculosis of the lung. But in any case where the diagnosis, or even a tentative opinion, can be arrived at reasonably early it is the doctor's duty and privilege to tell the patient plainly what ails him, and then if the patient elects to ignore the doctor's advice, why, that is not the doctor's funeral.

For further information on tuberculosis, write in for my monograph on the subject, which is yours if you enclose a stamped envelope bearing your address.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Wartology.

I had warts on my hands for years. I read your health articles in our paper for a long time. I put castor oil on my warts. Now they have disappeared. (Mrs. M. B.)

Answer—I hope you mean the warts. The castor oil treatment has a lot of advocates. They all declare they rub the warts a moment with some castor oil each evening for a week or two makes 'em vanish. So castor oil is of some use in the world, besides lubricating airplane engines and keeping one's hair in condition.

I never miss your articles. Notice several readers report how they got rid of warts. I had warts on my hands but they never bothered me and I never looked for a remedy. One day I happened to use a lot of washing soda when I used my dish washer, and it irritated my hands a lot, but the warts vanished when the irritation subsided. (A. M.)

Answer—Thank you. Warts have a way of coming and going without rhyme or reason. So all presumptive causes or cures must be taken not too seriously.

Dry Ice.

How can I remove moles? Is the method of using dry ice safe? If so, where can I obtain some? (B. L.)

Answer—You can't remove moles safely. Only a physician can do so. "Dry ice" is solidified carbon dioxide. It freezes the skin or other tissue and causes it to slough away, just as it would if severely frostbitten. Obviously the use of such a weapon would be dangerous in any hands other than the physician's. Freezing with carbon dioxide pencil is effective for certain types of moles and other skin lesions.

Eyes and Heart.

Is it injurious to keep eyes open when swimming under water? Is the heart and its function affected by sleeping on the left side? (I. O. L.)

Answer—1. No, not unless the water is polluted. 2. Sleep posture has no effect on heart.

The Tynmites
By Hal Cochran

"I THINK," said Scouty, "it would be the very wisest thing if we would let the lizards play alone. I do not like their looks. Some sharp teeth came right into sight and I don't care to get a bite. I know that they are dangerous. I've read of them in books."

Perhaps that thought is right on these, but there are others, if you please," replied the friendly Travel Man. "Not all of them are bad. Some lizards are so lazy they don't even have the pep to play. Some day I'll show you photographs of several I have had."

"Now, if you're tired of staying here, I think I'll bring a thought of cheer. I know you all are very fond of riding on a ship. So now I'll tell you what let's do. Let's go to Lima, in Peru. It's far enough away to make a very pleasant trip."

"Hurrah! Hurrah!" the Tynmites cried. "We're ready for just such a ride. Please lead us all to where the ship is resting at the dock. Pick out a big one. 'Twill suit me 'cause I'm as nervous as can be whenever the sea is very rough. I like ships that don't rock."

The whole bunch shortly were aboard and, as a monstrous whistle roared, they set sail for old Lima, which was shortly to be found. The trip was very fine and they spent many hours at boisterous play, but everyone was thankful when they landed, safe and sound.

"This isn't Lima boys. Not yet, but to that town we'll shortly get. This is the port of Callao," the Travel Man explained. "Look at those queer cars." Cowley cried. "It's my suggestion that we ride right up to Lima in them." So the whole bunch soon entrained. (Copyright, 1931, NEA Service, Inc.)

VALUE DECLINES

New York—Production of commercial airplanes, from the standpoint of value, declined 47 per cent this year, as compared with the first five months of 1930, the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce reports. Commercial aircraft engine production was down 45 per cent. Sales, however, did not fall so much. Commercial plane sales dropped 40 per cent and aircraft engine sales dropped 23 per cent.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York — Seen and heard on a summer night stroll (within 13 blocks on Fifth, the fabulous avenue):

An old model T Ford touring car, driven south by a grizzled, gray haired man. A few pedestrians stare after the antique. A young whipper-snapper, with a memory for horary gags, yell: "Where's your other skate, mister?"

A buxom, well-dressed grandma, walking alone, tugs at her beads. The string breaks and they scatter. A youth considerably tries to recover them.

Momentarily flustered, she recovers her hauteur and hurries away, leaving the youth on his haunches with nary a "Thank you."

Comparing bridge work under a street lamp. A plump, flashily dressed fellow and a plaster-faced platinum blond wait at a bus stop. They alternately open wide their mouths for each other's inspection. Their fingers point out their dental features.

One Way To Get Cool

Two young women, one of them holding the leash on a Pekinese, think it cute when the pup holds back to rub noses with a Scotty. They titter and gurggle, headless of the man who has the Scotty on the string. He makes a remark, sparing for an opening.

Freezing him solid, the custodian gathers up the Pekie and both young women flounce away.

A panhandler walks alongside a dapper old gent and speaks his line about needing nourishment. The old man shakes his head and the panhandler scowls and slinks off.

But the solicited one reconsiders, calls to the fellow, and gives him a coin. The beggar's attitude conveys the indictment, "That's what you should have done in the first place."

A taxi with screaming brakes rams the rear of a swell touring car, stopped suddenly for the red traffic light.

The cabman bawls out the chauffeur as they both leave their seats to survey possible damage. Occupants of the sleek motor, their dignity jarred, glare the cabman into meekness.

A frail girl in a red dress looks at some fruit in a brilliant show window. A stocky man, carrying a cane, lingers there. Charly—he might be talking to himself—he makes some utterance.

The girl's mouth, not unlikely a hungry mouth, twitches in a guarded smile. She saunters off and he follows. And he didn't even have a dog!

Lights And Shadows

At a cage where one goes to pay the light bills the cashier has a sleek black revolver lying on the counter, in full view.

Whether or not the young man would know which end of the gun to point, there is a shock in seeing it there which dissuades one from pulling his own, nevertheless and demanding, "Hand out the cash!"

That, I am informed, is the psychology of the exhibit as it applies to all corners.

HIDDEN IGNORANCE

While keen on gardening, to husbandly dig a row in the florist about the herbaceous border?

Husband: No, I telephoned. I'd rather say herbaceous any day than spell it.—Humorist.

ONLY FOUR CASES OF CONTAGION REPORTED

Only four cases of contagion at minor children's diseases were reported to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, last week. There were three cases of whooping cough and one of mumps.

With the opening of schools only a few weeks away, health officials look for an acceleration of contagious diseases. It is expected that the school year will be taken to keep the contagion level as clear as possible, with the hope that the coming year will be as free from epidemics as was the year 1930.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

ADVANTAGE OF PRE-EMPTIVE OVERBID

UNDER the Approach Forcing System three bids in a major and four bids in a minor suit cover the range of hands, strong aggressively and warranting an attempt for game (usually in that suit), but entirely too weak distributively for an opening bid of two in the suit.

A game bid tells partner that the hand has a powerful trump suit; in other words, distributively. It is a bid of strength, but defensively it cannot be counted on. Obviously, most of the value of Pre-emptive bids will be lost unless they are made before adversaries have made an opening bid, although, in some cases, the opportunity may present itself to block valuable exchange of information after one adversary has bid. The intent to shut out opponents, preventing them from reaching the best declaration for their combined hands by approach bidding methods, is apparent to the adversaries, but may leave them helpless, notwithstanding, especially if their strength is divided and the distribution of their hands normal.

Necessarily a hand warranting such an overbid must be bid. If doubled, will not exceed the value of an opposing game. In a major suit the hand should contain at least 7 playing-tricks, not vulnerable, and 8 vulnerable. In a minor suit, a diamond, the hand should contain 8 playing-tricks and one more vulnerable.

The Responding Hand, with no intervening bid, will only raise with a hand powerful in honor-tricks, having at least 4 supporting tricks, inviting a Slam. Should there be an intervening bid, either a Raise or Rebid with insufficient values is a defensive measure fraught with danger. Unless positive that opponents can score game, such a bid is unsound. Moreover, there is a possibility of forcing opponents into a successful Slam bid.

Recently, in a Chicago club, a Pre-emptive overbid resulted favorably for the Dealer.

GEORGIA LAWMAKERS

END 60-DAY SESSION

Atlanta, Ga.—(AP)—The Georgia general assembly stood adjourned sine die today after a 60-day session during which it enacted into law virtually every major recommendation of Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr.

Taxes were imposed by the session and the gross sales tax, which expired this year after bringing the state approximately $3,000,000 in the two years it was operative was not continued.

A redistricting measure, reducing Georgia's congressional district from 12 to 11, was passed Saturday. As was the measure to reorganize the state government, slashing bureaus and departments from 122 to 21.

RESUME HEARING IN FAILURE OF BANK

Milwaukee.—(AP)—The secret John Doe hearing into the failure of the Franklin State bank was resumed here today. It was indicated the hearing was reopened to determine whether testimony necessitated criminal warrants. Deputy district attorney Walter Fisher in charge of the investigation said bank officers would be the first called to testify today.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR DISCUSSION ON PARKS

D. H. Kopp, director of education and publications for the Wisconsin Conservation commission, will address Rotary club at its meeting at Hotel Northern Tuesday noon. His subject will be State Forests and Parks.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Cunningham of Oak Park, Ill., are visiting at Mrs. Cunningham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Johnson, 511 N. Broadway-st., Appleton, Wis.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

The bidding:

South West North East

♠ (1) Pass Pass Pass (3)

1.—South's hand is weak in defensive strength but strong if played at clubs.

2.—East, with 3-4 honor-tricks, is afraid to count on spades tricks because of unequal distribution, so does not double. He is unwilling to risk a bid of five spades because of possible spade length in North's hand.

The play of the hand was almost a sure thing in finding the heart Ace on the left of partner's King, and the Queen Knave of diamonds unprotected. Club nine was led by West, won by East and spade King returned. Declarer lost only the club Ace and heart Ace.

It is interesting to note that East could make four spades, and had the bidding progressed slowly would have bid five, taking a loss of 100 points or forcing South to bid six clubs for a similar penalty.

Today's Pointer

Overbid in Opponent's Suit

Advised

Game all, love all

South has bid one club.

We have two spades, what should North bid holding:

♠ A Q 7

♥ J 9 8

♦ A Q J 10 9 8 7

The Answer

The correct bid on this hand is three spades.

It must be evident to North that the bid of two spades is more or less in the nature of a psychic bid; that is, an attempt to prevent a game or Slam bid by his opponents. The best way to expose this situation to his partner is by an overall in opponent's suit which, after a bid by his partner, shows Slam possibilities, and also that he does not expect to lose any tricks in opponent's suit.

The only danger here is that the partner may assume that club support is indicated, but Third Hand can take out any further bid of clubs in diamonds, North should count on playing this hand either five or six diamonds, depending on his partner's responses and on the extent of his own gambling instincts.

3 PERSONS INJURED BY DEMENTED MINER

Pittsburgh.—(AP)—Wielding an axe, a demented miner charged through "the patch," a settlement near Renton, yesterday, slashed two men and a small girl, set fire to a house, wrecked furniture in a number of others and was captured after a fierce struggle with possemen.

The miner, John Kiski, 45, and his victims, Catherine Zimmerling, aged three, George Andrews, 45, and Joe Vomock, 50, were in the Citizens General hospital at New Kensington today. All were critically hurt. Kiski received a probable fracture of the skull while resisting capture.

Kiski attacked his wife while she held her baby. She died with the child and he set their home afire. Seizing an axe he rushed through the streets and was attacked as he ran toward Kiski's burning home; Vomock was attacked at a nearby barracks. The child was slashed as she played beneath a porch.

A posse was formed by terrified citizens and surrounded Kiski as he was being taken to the police station.

Kiski formerly was an inmate at the state insane hospital at Terrence, Pa.

New York.—The Episcopal Bishop of Nebraska has ideas as to Babe Ruth and Estelle Taylor. Franching of St. Thomas church, the Right Rev. Ernest T. Shearer said: "There recently appeared stories of a certain man who is called a success because he has hit 50 home runs. Is it success to have a keen eye and a strong arm? A beautiful young movie actress from Hollywood thought she could attain success by marrying the heavyweight champion of prize fighting. She was disappointed because she married him." The bishop answered his question tentatively in the negative.

HOME-MAKERS ADD TO FAMILY BUDGET BY DOING MODELING

Appearing in Domestic Scenes Before Camera Is New Activity

BY MRS. PENROSE LILLY

New York.—Wanted: Artist's models, must be over 30; married and preferably have one or more children.

The tired mother has put her babies to bed, sits down to glance at the evening paper for a few moments before starting dinner and reads such a startling notice.

Can it be true?

Yes, hundreds of such women today are paying for a servant or adding to the savings account kept for Johnny's education by posing for pictures used in national advertising.

A manufacturer of refrigerators wants to show his product as it is used. A photographer who understands how to get such studies, calls for one of his domestic-type models to pose as the mother who uses such a refrigerator to protect the health of her family. Only a woman who would use such a refrigerator can pose. She will act her part, whereas a professional actress or younger woman could not put into the picture the natural life of a mother.

Another manufacturer puts out a new washing powder that cuts down the time for washing all the family's clothes. So the artist-photographer sends for a model who has a large family does her own washing, and can therefore pose in the act of washing with practical reality. So it goes, right down through the list of products advertised to the American housewife. The money paid for this domestic posing is generally $5 a pose, which means for one and a half hours.

Reality Is In Demand

H. I. Williams, the New York photographer who takes a large percentage of the domestic studies you see in magazine and newspaper advertisements, explains what he demands in a domestic model. She must be experienced in the pose he is taking. For example, if she poses as a young society matron, she must be a modern young wife who entertains gracefully. If she poses as a woman enthusiastic about a new cake flour, she must be noted in her community for her wonderful cakes.

Williams drew out a folio of national advertisements familiar to all of us. "Now this woman," he explained, pointing to a picture of a young wife in a kitchen apron showing pleasure over the new kitchen cabinet, "is helping her husband pay off the mortgage on a new home in Westchester County, equipped with all modern kitchen devices. While her 6-year-old son is at school, she models in New York. Her average weekly check is $60."

Williams produced five other advertisements, showing a nurse, a governess, a young mother, a school teacher and a nun.

"That girl has been married a little over a year and has a two-month-old baby. For years she nursed her invalid mother and also supported and raised her two younger sisters, because her older sister had entered a convent as a nun. Now that she is married, she wants to continue to help support her family out of her own earnings, yet leave time to devote to her husband and baby. So she models two mornings a week for me."

He told me about several other women between 30 and 40, but the story of the New York policeman and his wife and first child who posed for him interested me most. When needed, the policeman comes in off his beat, just a few blocks away from the studio, and becomes at a moment's notice, a fireman, a plumber installing a new kind of sanitary fixture, a contract boss, the proprietor of a hardware store, or a gangster type.

His wife is a large, motherly person who will raise the neighbors' children when her own five are grown up. She poses as a mother, as a laundress, as a domestic cook, matron of children's home, and as any other type connected with spacious domesticity. All her children pose, too, and begin a few months after birth. Williams says the children feel as much at home in his studio as he does himself.

Recently the policeman's 18-year-old son modeled as a youthful millionaire driving home from his university, equipped with the most expensive luggage on the market. So you see, the model can sometimes pose as what he wants to be rather than what he is.

This large family, all working as models has bought a camp in the Adirondacks with their studio money. "I don't want the wife and kids to work during the summer, so I ship them up to the hills. They can't find it themselves, didn't cost me a cent, just having them there." This is the model's explanation of what he does with the extra money.

Modeling is a new activity for many women, and it is a good one. It adds to the family budget and it is a good one.

Lost in Mexico

Mystery surrounded the disappearance of Pauline Phillips, above, 24-year-old Oklahoma City society girl, in Agua Caliente, Mex., 20 miles south of San Diego, Calif. She vanished while touring the Mexican resort with friends.

San Francisco.—(AP)—Police today sought to learn whether Mrs. Daisy Price, bride of Lieutenant, Comm. George D. Price, who plunged four stories from an apartment to her death yesterday, fell accidentally or was pushed from a window.

Mrs. Price said in a dying statement: "It was my fault." But to men who picked her pajama clad body from the sidewalk, she was reported to have gasped: "I was thrown out."

The fall occurred after a party of naval officers and their women companions in her apartment. As she fell she snatched a chair for support, but the gesture was futile. The chair was shattered on the sidewalk by her body.

Police found cuts on the back of Mrs. Price's legs, indicating, they said, she might have been pushed out backward.

Give Child Chance To Be Himself

BY ANGELA PATEN

"You can make a child into any kind of person you want. You can make him an artist or a doctor or a thief if you work hard enough at it. I'm going to make a surgeon of my Phil. I know he can do it and I'm going to see that he does."

"Does Phil want to be a surgeon?"

"He doesn't care much either way. But he can do it if he tries."

"I figure that a surgeon makes more than a doctor nowadays. The medical man has to take a back seat when the surgeon comes along. There's more money in it."

"If the boy wants to make money why not let him be a business man?"

"You mean go into business? He can be a good business man and a good surgeon too, can't he?"

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1930 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

SUE pulled a fragile pink crepe and lace negligee around her, stepped into pink mules and ran to the door.

"Dr. Barnes!" she called.

"Ready?" his voice answered.

"No-o-o. I was detained. But I'll be downstairs in ten minutes. I'm sorry. Will that be all right?"

"O. K. Don't hurry. We have time." She heard his footsteps go across the hall to his own room.

Splashing quickly in the tub, Sue reflected that where Jack was concerned she was always ready. Ready and waiting. And that, to all the people who claimed to know the rules of etiquette that made you a success or failure at the game of love, was a poor sign. It ended the chase. There was no lure to the quest. And yet...

"But you can't be engaged to marry a man without letting him know that you love him and a man wants to be sure of the girl he is marrying," Sue philosophized. "Before the engagement you need to keep him guessing. Not afterward, though."

Sue dressed for the party very quickly. She drew her blue-black hair away from her face and caught the curls at the nape of her neck. Then she released those in front and left a wisp here and a lock there to curl intriguingly around her face.

When she was ready she went down the stairs to the place where Dr. Barnes waited.

"You look like a million," he told her warmly. "I may have to be reminded that you belong to another fellow."

Sue smiled a little. "I won't let you forget it."

"You are strong for faithfulness, aren't you?"

"I'm old fashioned, you mean," she answered. "Sticking to the old rules. Narrow. Go ahead and say it and get it out of your system if it will help any."

"I'm sorry." His voice contrite. "I admire you for it, honestly. Only—so few men are worth it."

"Then if a girl happens to be engaged to one of the few who is she should be so grateful it ought to make her careful, don't you think?" Sue's voice was light, but the vibrancy of the laughing tones a serious current ran.

"You win! I'd like to see the paragon who has enamored you. His name is Thornton, isn't it?"

"Yes," Sue's eyes were puzzled. Then she remembered that he had seen the name on an envelope and maybe had remembered it from the newspaper picture, too.

"They were in Dr. Barnes' car, an inexpensive make, when they took up the conversation again."

"What sort of a party is it tonight?" Sue asked them. "And why do you want to introduce me as the girl to whom you are engaged?"

"Are you sure you don't mind?" the young dentist asked.

"Not if the people don't know me. It's part of my job."

"No, it isn't!" He spoke quickly. "I wouldn't be that contemptible. If you don't want to it's all right."

"Of course I'll play the part. It sounds interesting."

"Then here's the story—"

now excluded from social gatherings. What kind of friendship is there in an action like this? Doesn't it prove conclusively that Mrs. J. was never and could never be a friend—that in truth she thought more of herself and of her high opinion of herself, than of any friendship that ever existed?

And of the same material is the fond mother who wrote me a letter of indignation not long ago explaining how she was deliberately cut out of a bridge party by a Mrs. C. whom she'd regarded as a great friend. In retelling, she used the only weapon she had—she refused to allow her small daughter to have anything to do with Mrs. C's children, although thereby she knew she deprived her child of agreeable companions. The important thing to her, you see, was not friendship, or even her child's welfare, but the opportunity to revenge herself swiftly and effectively on the unworthy Mrs. C.

It is incredible how women of all ages can allow their vanity, their sense of hurt pride to interfere with their own happiness—to break up friendships which are dear to them. Next time, Jane, that you feel like extracting your best friend from your group in order to prove to her that she was grievously wrong, just remind yourself that you're giving yourself away.

You're showing yourself little and vain. You're practically admitting that your vanity is stronger than any other emotion. You're absolutely denying that there could ever have existed real friendship.

The true friend is big enough to forgive and forget, even though her pride has been hurt—and in the end she reaps greater admiration and acquires more self-respect, than all the likely successful revenge artists who specialize in plotting the doom of those who have offended them. Prove yourself to be somebody and don't join the I'll Get Even Club.

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vance

YANTRY STRONGER THAN FRIENDSHIP—PUT THOUGHTS OF REVENGE ASIDE

JANE: Yes your girl friend has been guilty of great rudeness to you but I'm sure she's been thoughtless more than anything else. After all girls have a habit of forgetting their manners when they're in love, and Virginia is no exception to the rule. She forgot all about dates with you and promises to you when her man hit town and even now she may be feeling extremely apologetic about the whole thing.

What has made her your friend all these years? Did you depend on her because of dates and mutual boy friends? Or are you real friends who understand each other, and can forgive each other's weaknesses? If the former is true, you haven't lost much but a pleasant acquaintance. If the latter is true, you can't possibly break up because of this one incident.

If she's a nice sort of gal, she's probably felt guilty and remorseful a dozen times during the past few weeks, during which you have maintained a stony silence. She knows as well as you do what is the trouble, but your absolute refusal to see her or even speak to her on the phone may well have daunted her.

You're not playing fair. And there are many girls like you who because of a single episode such as you have described, will throw over their best chums, firmly and finally. It's all nonsense. You don't want to lose your old friend, any more than she wants to lose you. If you intended to teach her a lesson it seems to me it's time for a recess. She's been made to understand that she has erred grievously.

Now for goodness' sake, be a good sport and a real friend, climb down from your lofty pedestal, and admit that you have behaved almost as badly as she has. This will be good for that pride of yours which has been responsible for most of the trouble any way. I haven't much sympathy with you or with your elders who pull this trick of throwing over friendship because of ruff vanity. Mrs. J. writes in rather complacent vein that she taught her dear friend and neighbor, Mrs. W., a lesson that good lady will never forget. Mrs. W. affronted the worthy Mrs. J. and the latter, all-powerful in the neighborhood, has managed things so successfully that the unfortunate Mrs. W. is

ROUGE LOBE OF EAR TO GIVE SMART TOUCH

BY ALICIA HART

Give beauty your ears!

She has some charm secrets that are centering around them, which she can't get across if you insist on keeping them buried under your red or black or brown or yellow locks.

Ears are definitely back in the style picture again. The clustering of curls behind the ear leaves the ear itself pretty much exposed for anything that you want to tell it today.

If your ears are too large let some of your hair droop across them. You may be able to make them mysterious and intriguing if you are skillful enough. But don't bury your ears under your hair. That custom is gone.

The lobe of the ear is part of your facial ensemble and belongs in the picture.

To increase its attractiveness use a touch of rouge on the lobe of the ear. Make sure that it tones with your cheek rouge.

See that this rouge is blended properly. Otherwise it may look as though you accidentally touched the lobe with a finger that you had used in working in cream rouge on your cheeks or lips.

If your ears annoy you in any way—if there is any sort of skin condition that makes them unattractive—by all means consult a competent physician. You may use aids on your hands and even on your nose, but never on your ears. They require the attention of a specialist.

The custom of wearing earrings is an old and primitive one. Every one is so often it comes in again. It is always more pleasing to see this form of decoration when the ear itself shows than when it doesn't. Some sizes of ears do not look well in earrings. Other faces have a contour that isn't adapted to them. You must study your own problem and decide if you can, or cannot wear earrings, and if you can, which type will do things for you.

Remember that even an earring is supposed to assist with the setting that shows you off. You are not a display window for showing off ornaments.

Heavy earrings are unwise, always, as they pull down the soft lobes of your ears in a manner that is decidedly ugly.

Now that ears are showing, be twice as sure to brush perfume on your hair behind your ears.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

"VIRGO"

If August 25th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to noon, from 4:45 p. m. to 6 p. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to 11:50 p. m. The danger hours are from 7 a. m. to 3:40 p. m.

Astrological influences on August 25th will have a demoralizing effect upon business in general. An uncertainty of purpose and an inability to take a strong course will prevent advancement in most schemes. The odds are in favor of the young and luck will come their way on the sports field.

The child born on this August 25th will be mentally precocious. Its brain must not be forced—stress should be placed on its physical exercises and manual occupations, so that its mental, spiritual and bodily development will each get its due. It will be proud and if allowed, arrogant.

You have a sweet, gentle, flexible nature, and one easily influenced by prevailing conditions. A pronounced sense of justice colors all your actions in life. You are not temperamentally well balanced, as you are at times full of optimism and hope and anon very melancholy. In your affairs, a certain amount of indecision is observed, and you often find yourself too late because of your hesitating habit, which has prevented you from acting at the most opportune time. You have a strong will, up to a certain point, but it is not a stubborn one. In any of life's battles, you yield under persistent pressure and desert your guns with a feeling of disgust.

You have an inventive mind, which shows ability in constructive and decorative work. You are quick in learning, have a keenly observant eye and are always anxious to try new things. You place a stamp of individuality upon everything you touch. You dress distinctively and in good taste and your surroundings will always show that you have done the best with the material at hand. Your friends are people of culture and intelligence and not necessarily those with position or money. Your monetary affairs are fraught with uncertainty and you will at times have to alter your mode of living from better to worse.

1,500 ATTEND SECOND ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW

Approximately 180 Exhibits Entered by Growers of Vicinity

Menasha—More than 1,500 persons attended Menasha's second annual flower show, sponsored by the Menasha Garden club, in the Memorial building Saturday and Sunday. About 180 exhibits, entered by professional and amateur flower growers, were displayed on the second floor of the building. The number of entries was almost double that of last year, and only amateur exhibits were in competition for awards.

Following the judging of exhibits from 12 to 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the entries were rearranged by garden club workers, and the show thrown open to the public. It remained open after 3 o'clock Saturday and until 10 o'clock Sunday evening.

Selection of the prize winning displays was made by three judges, Felix Loomstein of Menasha, A. Knappstein of New London, and N. A. Rasmussen of Oshkosh. The winners will be announced by Garden club officials early Tuesday. The list of winners will be compiled at a meeting of club committees at the home of Miss Edna Robertson Monday evening.

In addition to the regular ribbon awards, five cash prizes were offered by the garden club and a number of additional awards were furnished by twin city firms and individuals.

5,000 DISAPPOINTED, BULL FIGHT CALLED OFF

Wisconsin Dells—(AP)—Nearly 5,000 persons who attended a radio show in the Lake Delton stadium here yesterday afternoon didn't see a bull fight after all.

Although intervention of officials was announced well in advance of the show, the assemblage apparently expected the radio promoters to put on the much advertised "Spanish style bull fight."

There were loud voiced protests as C. M. Lemar, Sauk-co district attorney, read a statement as a finale to the program in which the spectators were informed that Acting Governor Henry A. Huber had forbidden the performance.

"I regret," said the district attorney, "that the acting governor of Wisconsin should feel that I might in remiss in fulfilling the duties of my office. I would certainly prevent this holding of any kind of entertainment in which the torture of animals was a part of the show."

Suggest Use Of Platinum As U.S. Coinage Medium

New York—(AP)—Platinum was suggested today as a new medium for United States coinage by Dr. George F. Kunz, New York gem expert, and others in a report for the platinum industry.

Arguments raised against the employment of this metal, says the report, are that the amount of platinum available is too meager and that difficulties would be encountered in a bimetallic system.

Regarding the first of these objections, Dr. Kunz suggests dropping the pegging of the price of platinum at any fixed level and coining the metal much in the manner silver is coined.

"The only serious difficulty with this method is the possibility of the market value of the coin going above its coinage value," he says.

"A protection against this would be to maintain a sufficient margin of seigniorage as in the case of silver and to have a reasonable reserve of platinum in the treasury vault which could be put in circulation when the prices climbed too high.

Production is growing faster than consumption, and within the next five years could probably be doubled, Dr. Kunz says.

He believes in the importance of the use of platinum for coinage because of the expected decline in the world's output of gold as predicted by authorities.

If the United States should assume a basic value of $50 an ounce for platinum, and a 50 per cent seigniorage margin, Dr. Kunz says that 200,000 ounces of platinum could replace in coinage 1,000,000 ounces of gold.

LONG DISTANCE FLIERS RETURN TO UNITED STATES

Relatives, Friends and Officials Greet Boardman and Polando

New York—(AP)—Russell Boardman and John Polando, Bay state fliers who flew non-stop from New York to Istanbul, Turkey, and so brought back to America the long distance flight record, returned today to receive an official welcome.

The city tug Macon went down the bay to meet the fliers with representatives of the mayor, the army and navy, and with the fliers' wives and relatives.

Boardman and Polando were so excited at seeing their wives that they jumped from the liner Excalibur to the Macon before they were supposed to and customs officials made them go back, postponing their welcome kisses until governmental formalities had been complied with.

On the way up the bay, after greeting wives and relatives, Boardman and Polando told of their long flight through fog and darkness. They displayed diamond studded badges given them by the Turkish Aviation society and were high in praise of the courtesy shown them by populace and officials there.

As the Macon progressed to the battery, escorted by spraying fireboats, Clarence Chamberlin stunted a plane in the drizzling skies above. Chamberlin was the last American to hold the long distance flight record until Boardman and Polando brought it back to this country.

PREDICTS END OF BORROWING CO-OPS

Omaha—(AP)—Attending a meeting of the Farmers' Union National board of directors, John A. Simpson, of Oklahoma City, president today predicted that within a year grain cooperatives will exist only outside of the organizations affiliated with the federal farm board set-up.

"Every cooperative group that has joined the farm board marketing program has been borrowing its head off from the revolving fund," Simpson declared. "They have borrowed millions at a good interest rate. Many of them will never be able to repay even the interest payment."

Simpson inferred that the membership in the country districts would drift away upon finding how heavily the marketing agency was involved financially.

PROGRESSIVES WILL NAME CANDIDATE

Lake Geneva—(AP)—A meeting of 29 delegates from each of the five counties in the first Wisconsin district is scheduled here tonight to endorse a Progressive Republican candidate to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman Henry Allen Cooper.

Mrs. Cooper, widow of the late congressman, has announced her candidacy.

The district normally is conservative, but Mr. Cooper won many of his elections because of his personal strength and policies rather than because of his party affiliations. The conservatives have endorsed State Senator George W. Blanchard, Edgerton.

BELOIT MAN WILL BE SUPPORTED BY HUBER

Beloit—(AP)—John Corbett, Beloit, chairman of the Wisconsin State legislative board of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, today had the endorsement of Lieut. Gov. Henry Huber as candidate for congress from the first district.

The lieutenant governor promised, during a speech at the Lega Mutua Society picnic here, to come into the district and campaign for Corbett if the Beloit man is nominated.

He also defended the war record of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, declaring the senator was loyal to his country "when some of his traducers were gouging the government out of millions."

WALL STREET AROUSED OVER CHAIN TAXES

Doesn't Take Kindly to Sales Tax Ideas for Several Reasons

BY CARLTON A. SHIVELY
Copyright, 1931, by Cons. Press Wall Street, New York.—(CPA)—Chain store taxation by the states, seeking to favor local merchants, has aroused keen interest in Wall Street, not only because it has given alarm to investors in these companies but because of the possible effect on industry in general. Wall Street does not take kindly to sales tax ideas, and while it is used to meeting certain antagonisms in rural communities directed against anything suggesting concentrated financial power, some alarm has been raised by the large number of proposals of this kind broached this year.

Only a dozen state legislatures since the first of the year have been free of laws or proposed measures which would react on chain stores. It is somewhat reassuring to chain store security holders to know that most of these bills have been killed, only a small number have passed, and a large number of law making bodies will not meet again in regular session until 1932.

Chain store tax is now being collected in only one state, North Carolina passed in 1929 a law imposing a tax of $50 on each store in excess of one under single ownership.

Law Under Review.

The law passed the state courts and is now under review by the United States supreme court. Bills to increase the tax were killed in committee this year. A law imposing a gross sales tax becomes effective, Dec. 31 but will be contested, it only to clarify its provisions.

In two states, Alabama and Florida, taxes will become effective Oct. 1. In four others, Indiana, Kentucky, Mississippi and South Carolina, operation of tax laws has been halted by the courts.

The Alabama law provides maximum license tax of $75 per store, exempting filling stations. The Florida law, effective July 4 with Oct. 1 payment date, calls for a tax ranging from $7.50 for one to $75 on each store in excess of 75. It also exempts filling stations and is regarded by chain stores as unconstitutional. It also imposes a tax of $3 on each $1,000 stock carried in each store and includes a provision to lower rates when all stores are operated in one county. The tax law in Indiana licenses tax in one county would be $50 a store for every store over 75.

Most attention has been attracted to the Indiana law as a test case. On June 1 the supreme court granted leave for filing a petition for rehearing and stayed its mandate reversing the decree of the lower court and authorizing collection of the tax. Consequently, payment will be postponed until the supreme court has ruled on the constitutionality of the law.

In Kentucky the United States district court has restrained temporarily a graduated sales tax of from 1-20 of 1 per cent on sales over $400,000 to 1 per cent on sales over $1,000,000. The state supreme court declared the law unconstitutional.

The Mississippi tax of 1 of 1 per cent income of all stores, when more than five are operated, was enacted in 1930, but a restraining injunction will be argued in supreme court this autumn. South Carolina's graduated license tax from $9 for one store to $150 on each store in excess of those operated in 1930 has been enjoined by United States district court.

Virginia has a tax on distributing warehouses which has been held unconstitutional. In addition to these laws, proposed legislation which can be considered alive includes the following:

Many Graduated Taxes

Georgia has a bill providing a graduated license tax of $3 on one store to $25 on every store over 20 and another providing a graduated license tax of $3 to $50 a store. Massachusetts carried over to next year's session a proposed law to curtail labor conditions in chain stores, a bill to prohibit monopolies in grocery stores for taxing at $100 each store over twenty and a flat 1 per cent sales tax on foreign corporations doing a retail business in the state.

Minnesota passed a bill to investigate mergers in restraint of trade. Oregon has passed a bill proposing investigation of chain stores. Wisconsin has authorized the attorney general to draw up a bill for taxation of chain stores. Delaware, Idaho, Maine, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Wyoming have no legislation against chain stores and have had no bills for it proposed this year—in some cases doubtless because the legislatures have not met.

TUSTIN LOSES TO NEW LONDON BY 4 TO 3 COUNT

Victors Rally in Eighth Inning After Trailing from Start

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Tustin threw a good game into the New London baseball team when they led up to the eighth inning by a 3 to 0 score here Sunday afternoon. New London cut loose in their half of the eighth and scored four runs. The victors got one more in the ninth, and the game ended in the local's favor, 4-3. Alberts, Tustin's pitcher, was in good form, striking out 14 New London men and giving 7 hits. No men free passed to first base off his delivery except Myers who received the fourth ball in the middle of his back. Westphal also erred in this respect, striking one man on his crazy home. Pete struck out 7 and allowed 5 hits.
Tustin scored in the first inning after two men were down. The third man up doubled down the third base line, and the next hit went over second, rolling into center field. Gotschalk fumbled the ball, allowing one man to score. Goose eggs were tallied up to the seventh inning when Tustin scored again. Westphal struck out the first two men in this inning and had two strikes on Alberts. That was all he got on the Tustin pitcher, however, as he belted the next one through center field for a triple. Myers then got tangled up in his catching paraphernalia and dropped a fourth pop out.
This batter on the next pitch singled over second, sending Alberts in. In the eighth after Tost popped out, Dobberstein hit over the short stop's head. Lash hit to center and Sweedy filled the bases when the Tustin second baseman could not locate Bud's grounder. Gotschalk, shot a hot one through the second baseman's legs, also rolled through the fielder. Before the ball was returned to the catcher "Getch" came home standing up. Four runs were made as a result of this single. Myers, next man up, hit into center field and the ball was bunted by two of the fielders.
Barney went to third. Tustin made a game rally in the ninth after two men were out when Lash let a low flyer set away from him, putting the runner on first base. This man stole second and came home on a double down the third base line. With a chance to tie the score Tustin's last batter sent out a weak pop up to short center field which Dernbach promptly smothered.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
New York—(C.P.) There is a faint odor of nepotism in the news that Walter C. Teagle has about clinched a $2,400,000,000 merger of the Standard Oil Co. of California and Standard of New Jersey, which Mr. Teagle has headed since 1917. He is not bound by blood to the Rockefeller dynasty, but he is a crony of John D. I. and so in a favored spot. This is not, however, to say that Mr. Teagle will rule in any save his own right. No sound judge would argue he is not the man to boss the combine which will bulk larger in dollars than even United States Steel; will be, in fact, second only to American Telephone and Telegraph. A hearty, blighish man who looks for all the world like a wrestler out of training, lumbering gait and all, he has proved his capacity by a steady march up from the bottom.
There, long before the turn of the century, he wore overalls and drove an oil wagon. By 1903 he had succeeded in dollars than even United States Steel; will be, in fact, second only to American Telephone and Telegraph. A hearty, blighish man who looks for all the world like a wrestler out of training, lumbering gait and all, he has proved his capacity by a steady march up from the bottom.
You annoy him when you say that the corporation octopus rules the land. Sure jaw set upon an old pipe, he will assure you that the biggest octopus is ruled by the people. He believes that work and enthusiasm will get a man farther than any other two qualities and it is a mighty cold day when he gives anybody a tip on stocks.
A joke a day or so, this Ernest Lee Jahncke is building pretty steadily toward an elevation upon which he must eventually stand without a rival as the principal no-lite comedian of the Hoover administration. A while back he aroused a hearty roar by declaring there were not enough honest-to-god salaried men in the country to save Old Ironsides from a tow line. A week or so ago he wise-cracked an offer to lend some naval gunners when the army failed to sink a designated target ship. Now he tells the south that all its prosperity comes from republicanism.
Acting secretary of the navy, Mr. Jahncke assumes his comic role somewhat tardily. He is 53, and heretofore has been known more as a yachtman and drydock owner from New Orleans. He is part German, part English by ancestry. Besides being an official of the navy he belongs to the president's "medicine ball cabinet." He has a little bit the weary air of a man who has been good-looking all his life, and he must cut quite a figure at the Mardi gras masquerades.
A slender clerk, dominated by heavy, tired eyes and a mouth as hard as iron, has set Spain and the valcan at sword's points. After acrimonious months the new republican government in Madrid says unequivocally that Cardinal Saura T. Saura, archbishop of Toledo and the pope's primate in Spain, must be calmed.
The controversy began in May when the cardinal called upon all good Catholics to vote only for legislative candidates who would defend the rights of the church. Less strong than the Madrid government protested, with scant satisfaction. In June, however, when the cardinal returned from a visit to Rome, he was arrested and deported. Mobs formed about the automobile in which he rode but he got safely away. He now in France from where he still orders his Spanish clergy and, according to his opponents, plots for the elevation of a Spanish King.

REPORT INCREASE IN RURAL DWELLERS

Washington—(AP)—The number of farm folk fell during the past decade, but the rapid rise of the ruralite was subject of a special announcement today by the census bureau.
"Rural non-farm" population was the title given to these new country dwellers who do not till the soil. They are those in the beyond-the-city limits estates, the inhabitants of the "unincorporated places."
They number 23,662,710. Of them the census bureau said: "While the total population of the United States increased 16.1 per cent between 1920 and 1930, and the rural-farm population decreased 3.8 per cent, the rural-nonfarm population showed an increase of 19 per cent."
F. A. Gonnell, chief of the publications division, ascribed the increase to improved living conditions in rural areas enabling many city dwellers to move into the country and commute, and to centralization of schools which has prompted many farmers to retire and move closer to the nearest consolidated high school to educate his children.

FREMONT FARMERS' MILK SUPPLY HIT BY DRY PASTURES

Silage, Hay and Grains Being Used in Emergency for Cattle Feed

Special to Post-Crescent
Fremont—With pastures dried up from the recent drought, dairy farmers in Fremont and vicinity are faced with the difficulty of keeping up milk and cattle food supply. Because of pastures being unusually short, silage and hay are being used for cattle feed.
Farmers lacking silage are using green corn fresh from the field, and other available green feed, to help the cows through the present emergency.
Grains and concentrates have not been as low in price for many years as they are now and a few farmers are keeping up the milk flow of cows and preventing them from losing flesh by providing these feeds.
Light rain, cool nights, and heavy dew of last week have made the outlook improve materially for one of the small but cash crops, cabbage. Plants are heading up well, and the prospect is that the late crop will turn out fairly large in this district.
The production per acre probably will be below that of last year, but this should help improve the market, increasing the price. High prices for early cabbage have been reported.
John Ceukhows of Omro made a business deal here Friday for buying the Fremont Garage of Edward Teska, who received a chicken farm at Omro, Wis., and Mrs. Ceukhows will move here in two weeks and Edward and Miss Bertha Teska will go to Omro.

Six tables of dice were played at a stork shower sponsored by the Busco club and given at the home of Mrs. Gary Zellow, route 4, Weyauwega, Friday afternoon. GET INSECTS IN EFFORT TO SAVE BERRY CROP

Madison—(AP)—More than 20,000 California insects are being speeded to Wisconsin by air mail to save Wisconsin's 40,000 barrel cranberry crop.

State Entomologist E. L. Chambers of the state department of agriculture and markets, said the insects will be placed on cranberry bogs to destroy the eggs of the cranberry worm and a species of fruit worm.

The parasites are scientifically known as the Trichogramma minutum and are described as tiny, non-metallic wasps which are reared on eggs of the Angoumois grain moth and distributed on sheets of cardboard on which the moth eggs are glued with shellac. The 20,000 insects in the shipment weigh only about three ounces. The sheets with the eggs are placed in infested bogs.

"While this parasite," Mr. Chambers said, "occurs naturally in Wisconsin, unfortunately it does not occur in sufficient numbers at the critical time to be of any commercial value. It is hoped that by rearing the tiny wasps artificially and introducing them at the time when the cranberry pests are laying their eggs, that it will be possible to solve the control problem."

PLAN SALE OF PUREBRED BROOD SOWS AND BULLS

BY W. F. WINSEY

A sale of purebred Holstein bulls and purebred Poland China brood sows will probably be held on the Wieckert Farms on the first Wednesday in September, by the proprietor of the farms, Walter H. Wieckert. He will offer 12 or more sows due to farrow soon and six bulls, most of them of serviceable age. He got his foundation brood sow from the Marinette County asylum, and his herd from James Diley, Rice Lake. The boar is one of a litter of 14 and weighed 500 pounds at a year old.

Mr. Wieckert recently finished 30 bushels of Albatross sweet clover seed that he raised on six acres. He is raising 5 acres of corn in a field in which he raised a crop of canning peas this season. He is now filling his silo with 10 acres of well sown corn.

A banyan tree in India has been known to shelter 7000 men. The circumference of its spread of branches is 3000 feet.

FREEDOM FARMS ARE HARD HIT BY DROUTH OF SUMMER

Find Pastures Are Dried Up and Crops Are Far Below Normal

BY W. F. WINSEY

The poor crops and the dry condition of the fields reveal that the town of Freedom is one of the hardest hit townships of Outagamie-co by the hot winds of July and the drouth. Inquiries addressed to farmers of that township revealed that no rains have fallen in that locality the past spring and this summer.

An inspection of the farms on Friday showed that pastures are supplying no feed, and the farmers declared that they have been feeding their herds corn and other feeds for some time. On account of the shortage of the usual feeds, the flow of milk has been reduced one-half in some cases and two-thirds in other cases.

Corn, except in lowlands is fired and stunted, and without ears will not yield much more than one-quarter of a normal crop. Farmers are filling their silos for the most part with dried stalks and leaves. Some fields in the lowlands have produced ears and large growths of stalks. The corn in these fields is still standing to give the ears a chance to ripen and to produce the maximum of feed.

The yield of early patches of potatoes being dug is about twenty-five bushels per acre. The vines have been dried up for a month or more. The yield of most of the other vegetables is very low also. The vines of the late crop of potatoes are still green but the potatoes are scarce and only about the size of marbles.

Cabbage in the great majority of the fields have been damaged by the cabbage looper beyond repair. This damage taken in connection with poor stands and slow growth means not more than one-quarter of an average yield.

Alfalfa fields are so badly dried up and are of such slow growth that as pasture they last only a few days.

The hay of the second cutting of these fields is very light. Sweet clover that furnished abundant pasture for herds all spring and summer has dried up and disappeared. Spring seeding of sweet clover and alfalfa cannot be found in the stubble fields.

The yields of small grain threshed and being threshed are from 30 to 50 per cent of a normal crop.

Farmers of the town of Freedom as those of every township of Outagamie-co are anxious over the hay and pasture crops for next spring and summer. They are quite positive that the timothy and wild pastures will show up again next spring and also the alfalfa in old meadows. The roots of the alfalfa are still alive despite the drouth, and rains would produce growth that would protect the stands throughout the winter, as they have been pastured one season, the sweet clover fields are done.

Some of the town of Freedom farmers may try emergency pasture crops this fall and next spring, such as winter wheat or rye, seeded with sweet clover. If the growing conditions are favorable, these crops will supply great pasture as they did last spring for a large number of farmers caught short-handed by the drouth. For hay, some of them may try soybeans, Sudan grass, or a mixture of oats and field peas, next spring.

MOON of DELIGHT

Chapter 30
ERIC'S UNEXPECTED TRIP
 ERIC LEDBETTER considered Fitz's advice not to go behind the scenes of La Petite Theatre to see Naida Preston.
 He decided, not to act the fool. Perhaps Fitz was right in saying that Dick Preston was "behaving like the devil." Husbands did sometimes.
 And so Ledbetter sat during the play between Doreen Larkin and the Marquessa de Cabrera. He wanted to sit next to Senorita Fitz, but that might unearth the memory of her voice and eyes, but Kirk Standard had maneuvered that the senorita sit next to him with Bobby again on her left.
 The Marquessa de Cabrera, however, was the senorita's duenna, and talked quite freely about her charge during the intermission. The senorita had never been in the Orient, said the marquessa, nor anywhere in America, as yet, except New Orleans. Perhaps he had seen her in Madrid.
 No, it was not Madrid. Memory was clarifying its images sufficiently to assure of that. Things like that worried him. He so seldom forgot a pretty woman.
 "Do not let it trouble you," said the marquessa. "Come to Seville in June. The senorita is to be married then."
 Trigger's play came to a close. Naida as a sinuous and languid siren had stolen a political secret from the man who loved to enrich the interests of her husband whom she loved not, and rise with him to power. Naida and the cast took seven curtain calls. Trigger himself came out in response to cries of "Author!" bowing and smiling nervously.
 Ledbetter decided not to go to Antonio's for his after-theater supper but to his own room. During an intermission he called up Ibo, his half negro, half Chinese servant, bidding him go out to the apartment, air it and make things ready.
 To the surprise of the crowd, Ledbetter did not go behind the scenes to congratulate Naida, nor were Naida and Dick among those who drove out to his apartment. The marquessa too was omitted from the party, by her own request. She did not feel well, she said had not slept the night before. Would they drop her at Mr. Standard's house?
 Kirk and Juanita offered to remain there with her—Juanita urgently, Kirk abetting her—but the crowd would not listen. "Shame on you, Juanita. You're the guest of honor. Besides, the marquessa only needs sleep, and you two would keep her awake."
 So Kirk had gone in with the marquessa, had seen her safe in the hands of the drowsy Sadie, and returned to the car.
 At Ledbetter's apartment Ibo admitted the party as they arrived. The place had been aired and queer incense filled the dimly lighted rooms. But there were no signs of a feast.
 Ledbetter had picked up his bag on the way and came in with it about to go through to the bedroom. Ibo stood before the bedroom door, his yellow-brown face impressive, his narrow eyes for a moment meeting Ledbetter's. Then he stood aside that Ledbetter might pass, and instantly shut the bedroom door. After another moment he too went into the bedroom, reappearing to go up to Fitz.
 "Mist' Ledbetter wan' you," he said in his smooth idiom. Fitz went into the bedroom.
 Ledbetter stood nervously in the center of the room. The drawers of his desk were open, their contents strewn about on the floor.
 "What in—" began Fitz. "You had a burglar, too?"
 "A burglar," answered Ledbetter, "who took nothing but Naida's letters."
 "My God," Fitz spoke under his breath. He stared at Ledbetter.
 "Dick," he whispered.
 Ledbetter turned abruptly.
 "I warned you," said Fitz. "I wired you not to come back."
 "Shut up," Ledbetter answered. "My trunk's at the station. My bag's packed. Get rid of the crowd somehow."
 "You off?"
 "New York," said Ledbetter. "Turkey. I've got 20 minutes. Get rid of the crowd."
 Fitz came out, looking as disturbed as he felt.
 "There was a cable," said Fitz. "Eric's sister. They think she's dying. He's leaving tonight."
 "But that's Paris," whispered Emmy Jean. "Poor Beast! Will he make it?"
 "We hope so," said Fitz. "He opened the door and they went out into the hall, buzzing, whispering. "Say good night to him for me." "Say good-by." "Poor Eric! And he'd just got home."
 Emmy Jean and Trigger rode home in Kirk's car. Emmy Jean they dropped in town. Trigger lived next door to Kirk. A success story! Kirk managed to say at parting. He would have had the ride alone with Juanita if he had not climbed into the car.
 He was alone with her in the dark hall. Silently he caught her to him, firmly, thinking she would resist. She did not resist. Her kiss met his. In the dark and silence she clung to him.
 "Juanita—you are crying!" She shook her head. "No, I ain't shed no tears." "Good-by," she whispered.
 "Good-by?" he questioned huskily. "Why did you say that?"
 "I don't know," bewilderedly. "I said itself. Let me go, dear. I hear some one moving."
 "You couldn't. The marquessa's in bed, and the servants sleep in the yard. . . . Let's not go up yet."
 "I'm afraid tonight!" he whispered against her.
 "I'm afraid tonight!" he whispered against her.
 "What are you afraid of, honey?" He thought she would say, "Of going back to Spain." But she said, "Of you."
 "Of you?" he asked.
 "Because I love you. . . . Let me go, Kirk, dear. . . . No, let me go. . . . You must."
 "I'll never let you go, Juanita."
 "You see why I am afraid of you," she whispered. "You try to hold me. It will be hard—because I love you. But you can't hold me. I ought to have known that at the start. I did know. I only forgot. . . . Good-night, darling. . . . If you love me, let me go. . . . I'm so tired. I'll see you in the morning."
 He released her. In the dark they went up the stairs, their steps noiseless on the deep carpet. At her door he kissed her again—gently. She was tired. She would see him in the morning.
 Juanita in her room, stood an instant leaning against the closed door, feeling Kirk's kiss still on her cheek. She went back to her room, but would not move the singing thought that Ledbetter was gone—gone before he had remembered. Kirk would not know now—ever—anything.
 She put on the light beside her bed, a shaded light that would not disturb the marquessa whose room was connected with hers by a short arched passage without a door. She moved about, preparing to undress. Suddenly she paused, hearing a sound. Once before—standing with Kirk in the hall—she had heard that sound, a sound as of some one walking in stocking feet. Then it had seemed to be in the upstairs hall. Now it came from the room on the other side of theirs—Nelly's room. The marquessa had a way of walking about in her stocking feet. Perhaps the sound really came from the marquessa's room.
 Juanita entered the arched passage. "Marquessa?" she whispered. There was no answer, and she switched on the light. The bed was empty, the bath also.
 Juanita, who had done no more than take off her wrap, stepped noiselessly into the hall. Nelly's room did not open into the main hall, but fronted a separate passage. Juanita, remembering the way, fell along the wall in the dark, till she reached that passage. Nelly's door had not been tightly closed, and opened softly. It was dark in here, but light filtered beneath the door of the dressing room beyond. There was the sound of a drawer being shut.
 (Copyright, Dodd, Mead & Co.)
 What Juanita sees tomorrow clears up many things, and leads her—and the marquessa—to the surprising Diva.

FOREIGN-BORN ARE NOT GIVEN EQUAL CHANCE

Wickersham Reports Police Discrimination Against Foreigners

superior to the use of the rubber hose as a favorite means of solving crime."

Tells Of Tortures

Paul Livingston Warnshuis, of the Presbyterian Board of National Missions, reporting upon Mexicans in Illinois, asserted they were subjected to the third degree more than any other type of prisoner. He said foreigners had been stood against a wall and beaten, immersed in ice water, whipped with a rubber hose, and even subjected to a three-day "hunger test."

In its own brief report, prefacing the others, the commission asserted crime in this country "has not been increased disproportionately by the conduct of the foreign born." As to the sons of immigrants, however, it reported itself indetermined.

"Whether or not," it said, "the current impression of excessive criminal propensities among so-called 'foreigners,' generally, can be partially justified by the existence of criminal propensities among children of foreign born parents, it is impossible either to affirm or deny."

Miss Bowler's statistical study found that among Chicago's 25 "public enemies" at least 19 were natives of the United States although born of foreign parents, while eight were born abroad.

24 Native Born

Of the "black list" held by Cleveland police, she said that of the 121 names upon it 74 were "native white" of foreign parentage, while 30 were foreign born.

The commission itself, however, warned that the many "Americans" raising the cry of "America for Americans" often themselves were the direct descendants of immigrants, who risen to the post of senators in the school or American citizenship, have "the common distinction to regard the fresh air of their day as peculiarly unpromising, if not dangerous, material."

"Adverse assumptions are easy and habitual with regard to minority groups," it said. "Differences of religion, speech and habit which obviously segregate minorities, are instinctively extended by the majority to imply other differences and, when some members of the minority group have been guilty of antisocial conduct, the majority all too quickly assumes such conduct to be characteristic weakness of the minority group as a whole."

WOMAN TAKES LEAD IN NATIONAL AIR DERBY ACROSS U.S.

Long Beach Pilot Lands Plane Far Ahead of Rivals on First Lap

Galveston, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Calif., pilot, did something in 1 hour 13 minutes that a group of men had not been able to figure out this morning after more than 12 hours' labor.

The flier landed her plane at the local airport at the end of the first lap of the National Air Derby—Santa Monica, Calif., to Cleveland, Ohio—in the fastest time of any of the contestants, but whether she won the event remained undecided.

"It's the handicaps," said one of the officials of the derby as he erased one set of figures and substituted another. "We haven't yet figured out who won the first lap."

While officials of the race were endeavoring to determine how the planes lined up under the handicapping arranged by army fliers, the contestants were preparing to take off for Phoenix, Ariz. In the race, it will be made there for lunch, after which the planes will go to Tucson, Ariz., to remain overnight.

This year's race is the first in which entrants have been handicapped. It was thought best by race officials to give all planes an equal chance, regardless of build and power.

Mrs. O'Donnell was highly displeased with her handicapping and when she arrived here, she was undecided whether she would continue in the race officially. C. F. Lienesch, manager of the derby, however, said Mrs. O'Donnell had indicated she would remain in the contest and go to Cleveland.

All planes arrived yesterday except those piloted by George Nettleton, Chicago, which was forced down at Murfreesboro, Minn., repairs, and J. B. Owen, Chicago, who landed at El Centro near here.

Mrs. O'Donnell led all contestants, both men and women. Phoebe Ome arrived 20 minutes after the Long Beach pilot put her plane down.

PLEASANT SENTENCE

Milwaukee—Oliver Moore, up for abandonment of his wife, was sentenced to go fishing by Judge George A. Sbaughnessy until he could get a job to support her. "If you can't find a job right away, you can fish and bring something home for the table in that way until things pick up," the judge told Moore.

LOAN COMMITTEE HAS DISBANDED

Washington (AP)—The national advisory loan committee, appointed last spring to supervise the loaning of emergency funds to members of agricultural credit corporations, and livestock loan companies, has disbanded after approving $1,327,440 in loans to 48 companies in 21 states. Secretary Hyde said the funds will enable those organizations to borrow from $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 for the use of farmers and stockmen in their localities by redemptions through intermediate credit banks. A sum of $10,000,000 was set aside for these loans from the $55,000,000 appropriated by congress for drought sufferers. The remainder will be made available for additional drought relief in northwestern and central states.

WIDE CONTRAST IN LIVES OF TRIO OF PROMINENT WOMEN

Mrs. Belle Case LaFollette Was Youngest and Last of Three to Die

BY RUBY A. BLACK Post-Crescent's Washington Correspondent

Washington—The three "grandes dames" of Washington have died in the last year, and wide contrasts are revealed in the lives and careers of these three women who had so profound an effect upon Washington life.

Mrs. Belle Case LaFollette is the last of the three and the youngest of them to go. Mrs. Eugene Hale of Maine died at her Maine home last summer, and the great gloomy pile in Sixteenth Street, a few blocks from the White House, which she animated for many years no longer has the spirit which made it live. There is only her bachelor son, Sen. Frederick Hale of Maine, to occupy it.

Mrs. Hale was the daughter, the wife, and the mother of United States senators. Only one other woman, an American, Mrs. Stephen G. Elkins of West Virginia, it is said, has borne such relationships to United States senators. Mrs. Hale's father, Sen. Zachariah Chandler of Michigan, was a friend of Lincoln's, and was chairman of the Senate Committee on Military Affairs during the Civil War. Her husband, a power in Maine, was chairman of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs, a position which he held for many years. There was a historic clash between Sen. Robert M. LaFollette Sr. of Wisconsin and Eugene Hale over jamming through a naval appropriation bill.

Sons Clash

There are clashes these days between the sons of those men, Sen. Robert M. LaFollette Jr. of Wisconsin and Sen. Frederick Hale of Maine, over naval expenditures. Next of the great women of Washington to go was Mrs. John B. Henderson, widow of a senator from Missouri. She left behind her several million dollars, a castle in Sixteenth Street—which she persisted in calling "Avenue of the Presidents"—many houses occupied by embassies, five wills and two codicils over which lawyers and relatives and other beneficiaries are fighting and will doubtless fight for years to come. She was a social arbiter. Mrs. Hale, too, was a social arbiter, but her political influence. Mrs. LaFollette took no part in social affairs, except contacts with her friends, but she was a power in politics.

But the wealth of the Hales and the Hendersons and the comparative poverty of the LaFollettes, and the social activities of Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Henderson as contrasted with the life of work spent by Mrs. LaFollette, are not the only contrasts between the women. After their deaths the contrasts continue. Mrs. Henderson leaves bequeathing and riches, an unhappy granddaughter—or maybe she is not a granddaughter at all, as Mrs. Henderson claimed before she died, the child being, according to Mrs. Henderson, an adopted foundling. She is the last of her line. One wonders who mourns her death. Now lawyers are telling experts that she was not in her right mind for some time before she died at her summer home at Bar Harbor, Me., a few weeks ago.

Wealth Aided

Her wealth and her eccentricity gave Mrs. Henderson her prominence. Probably if she had been poor she would have been just another crank. For the things for which she is known are erratic, fantastical things. She hated liquor, and Sixteenth Street flower, with thousands of dollars worth of rare wines stored by her husband's death, for she had it all emptied into the gutter in a spectacular manner. She burst into print with diatribes against cigarettes, short dresses and rouged lips. She was a vegetarian, and concocted imitation roasts and "stuffed chickens" out of vegetables, publishing a vegetarian cookbook and never bothering about whether her guests would prefer meat. She exerted all her power to get Uncle Sam to accept as a gift a magnificent home for the Vice President to live in, without success.

Mrs. Hale was quite the opposite. She abhorred publicity. She would not even permit publications of the historically valuable letters from Abraham Lincoln to her father. No photograph of her existed in the files of newspapers or photographers' collections of negatives when she died. She was the friend of Presidents and their wives. She entertained guests, exclusively, and ignored the society columns as well.

BUY INSURANCE TO COVER RISK AND NOT AS INVESTMENT

Expert Says Insurance Should Be Purchased Before Bonds

BY GEORGE T. HUGHES Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press New York—There is one more topic which ought to be touched on before we begin discussion of securities, and that is life insurance.

Insurance is to be bought primarily because there is an insurable interest and only incidentally as a means of investment. It has the advantage, just as the building and loan does, of requiring regularity in payments and so is an aid to thrift, but the main reason why insurance should be purchased is to cover a risk which the individual cannot carry for himself. For this reason, it is something which the man, or the young woman, is anyone else dependent on her earnings, must seriously consider.

It is foolish to think about the buying of stocks and bonds, whether for speculation or for investment, when there is real need of insurance and none is held. It is possible, of course, to go to extremes and take out insurance in excess of one's ability to carry but that is the fault of the minority. The great majority have too little insurance. It is impossible for a salaried man or wage earner to buy out of his earnings enough insurance to enable his family after his death to live on the income therefrom on the same scale as if he were still living and in receipt of his regular stipend.

But it was no extraneous thing, such as the position of her husband and her sons, which made Mrs. LaFollette a "grande dame." "When we were governor," her husband used to say of the days when he and Belle Case LaFollette were in the executive mansion in Madison.

Stops Double Cross

It was Mrs. LaFollette who prevented an eminent gentleman, since dead, from double-crossing her husband in his presidential campaign headquarters in Washington in the 1912 campaign. Mrs. LaFollette was "counselor," not only to her husband and her sons, but to the whole progressive movement.

While never doing spectacular things to gain publicity, as did Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. LaFollette was often in the newspapers, and there were many pictures of her when she died. Some were action pictures. When the National Woman's Party shows its lantern slides of its dramatic campaign for the federal suffrage amendment, one can see Mrs. LaFollette walking to the Capitol to lobby for suffrage. Pictures of Mrs. LaFollette campaigning have been made all over Wisconsin. The obscure and the great, senators, editors, postal employees, feminist, wr-ed their tributes and their condolences to her children when she died.

Mrs. LaFollette was a writer, a lawyer—the first woman to graduate from the Wisconsin University law school—and a politician. She was her husband's secretary before congressmen had stenographers to pay secretaries, and she addressed thousands of envelopes to voters in Wisconsin in her husband's first years in the House of Representatives, sending speeches, for the printing of which she and her husband paid, to inform the people of their district on public issues—not just LaFollette speeches, but other informative speeches by congressmen and senators, too. She worked for suffrage and for peace. She once expressed regret that her husband was not as complete a pacifist as she.

She died working. The others died too old and too feeble to work.

CHICAGO THEATRES OPEN UNDER WRIT

Neighborhood Show Houses Defy Demands of Operators' Union

Chicago (AP)—Protected by a court injunction, 104 neighborhood moving picture theatres were opened last night in defiance to demands of the union that each employ two instead of one film operator.

On the contention that the city ordinance requiring the licensing of motion picture operators in Chicago was unconstitutional, Judge Ross C. Hall issued the injunction to the Al-Hed Theatre Owners' Association of Illinois. This was served on city officials shortly before the theatres were scheduled to open. No cases of violence followed, police reported.

In nearly all of the projection booths were operators who came from New York City. All of them claim to be members of unions in the eastern city. None is affiliated with the Chicago local.

Meanwhile, 19 operators arrested Saturday night when they attempted

NO GARDEN-NO JOB SAYS FORD TO HIS WORKERS

Automobile Magnate Will Put New Plan in Operation Next Year

Iron Mountain, Mich. (AP)—An edict that family men employed by the Ford Motor company either have to go in for gardening or give up their jobs, has been issued by Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer.

He announced yesterday that his "no garden, no job" plans would be put into effect next year as a means of alleviating temporary business depression, and expressed the belief that if they proved successful other companies throughout the country would take similar steps.

"When the people of our country learn to help themselves they will be benefited far greater than they would be by unemployment insurance as is being suggested in congress," Ford said. "If our agricultural plans are adopted throughout the country such a thing as the dole system need never be thought of."

Family men who have no available space for gardening, Ford said, would be supplied with land by the company, which would provide expert advice for those not familiar with garden work. He added that an investigation would be started soon to determine which of his employees needed instruction.

"Next year every man with a family who is employed at the plant will be required to have a garden of sufficient size to supply his family with at least a part of his winter vegetables or he will find himself without a job," Ford said.

Ford made his announcement following a tour of inspection. He said he had given considerable study to the problem and had come to the conclusion that there was no use of trying to help men who did not try to help themselves by raising food-stuffs.

GAUDY PAINT, BAND, SHOCK CHURCHMAN

London—The rainbow, wielded in the form of a paint brush, ran rampant in St. John's church in Newington, Hull, recently, and church officials celebrated the church-cleaning by hiring a band to parade and head a procession to Sunday morning services.

The color scheme, which consists of bright green news, gray pillars, orange ceiling and yellow floor, together with the band, brought a storm of protests from all over England.

The color scheme is the work of Rev. T. H. Tardrew, who is sponsoring a campaign for brighter and better-attended places of worship. From the looks of his attendance recently—it had been too much for the church—he has succeeded in his campaign.

to operate without city licenses, faced arraignment in the city courts today.

JURY DISAGREES IN MURDER TRIAL

Report Jurors Were 11 to 1 for Acquittal of D. H. Clark

Los Angeles, (AP)—The first trial of David H. Clark, on a murder charge growing out of the killing of Herbert Spencer and Charles H. Crawford, local political figures, has resulted in a disagreement and discharge of the jury.

The panel was dismissed yesterday. W. J. Ford, special state prosecutor, branded its deadlock at 11 to 1 for acquittal as "ridiculous" and said plans were to be made immediately for a new trial of the former deputy district attorney.

The second trial, like the first, will be for the murder of Spencer, editor of a political magazine. In event the second trial should result in an acquittal, a third will face Clark. This will be for the murder of Crawford, wealthy political boss.

Spencer and Crawford were shot in the latter's Hollywood office last May 20. Clark, confessing to the slayings on the witness stand for the first time, related a story of self defense.

Ford indicated he believed the state had its best chance for a conviction in the Spencer case.

Clark's story was that he shot Crawford when the latter reached for a weapon as the climax to an argument which followed Clark's refusal to "frame" Chief of Police Roy E. Steckel.

Clark said he later shot Spencer when Crawford had shouted: "Get him, Herb!" and when Spencer allegedly came toward him making a move as if to reach for a pistol.

Crisis in England Lends Unsettled Background for Start of New Week

By CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associate Editor, Financial Editor
New York. (P)—The budget crisis in England provided a somewhat unsettled background for the start of the new week in the financial markets.

Despite the adverse psychological effects of the fall of the labor cabinet, high ranking quarters in Wall Street were inclined to view optimistically the prospect of formation of a coalition government to deal with the situation.

Stocks continued the decline of last week, quietly and without acceleration. The foreign division of the bond market was somewhat depressed.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and orderly. Bills were again the conspicuous soft spot. Both New York Central and Pennsylvania were for the week.

American Telephone broke 3 points, then recovered partially. Miscellaneous issues off a point or two included U. S. Steel, American Can, Woolworth, Safeway, North American, American Tobacco, Standard Oil of California, Krueger and Tull and Eastman.

The only element of surprise in the British situation was the news that the $250,000,000 Franco-American credit to the Bank of England, extended three weeks ago, has been virtually exhausted in supporting sterling exchange.

This was in substantial contrast to Wall Street international banking circles. It was stated in important banking quarters that the Bank of England had requested no further credit here, although the opinion was expressed that a further credit could be arranged.

The arrival in Canada of Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, has been a considerable interest, and it is taken for granted he will meet with important Wall Street bankers.

Many observers attach highest importance to the restoration of financial equilibrium to Europe, holding it an essential to general economic recovery. The Harvard Economic Service said today: "If financial settlements in Europe, real business recovery here may be prevented and the present depression may be prolonged into a double depression resembling in many respects that of 1893-96."

Corporate business news over the weekend failed to provide important clues. Unofficial third quarter earnings estimates are beginning to appear in Wall Street and are of a character to suggest further important dividend reductions. Further wage reductions are being widely forecast in financial circles.

The $1-a-barrel crude oil price objective of Governor Murray in Oklahoma has apparently been achieved, with the posting of such a price by at least one company. Oil securities, however, were quiet and little changed.

STEADIER TONE SEEN IN STOCKS ON CURB

New York. (P)—The curb market was hesitant today. A somewhat lower tendency developed during the morning, but changes were largely limited to minor fractions, and by midday, a steadier tone was manifest. Trading was in small volume.

The oil shares were little influenced by the news that one company was finally offering $1 a barrel for crude oil in Oklahoma, the objective of Governor Murray's shutdown.

Gulf fluctuated uncertainly, following off a fraction, then rallying to sell a little higher. Cities Service, which through its subsidiary, Indian Territory, holds important oil properties in Oklahoma, sagged a point, then recovered a little. Cities Service bonds a shade lower.

15 MAKE SURVEY OF INFECTED CORN AREA

Sheboygan. (P)—Fifteen employees of the state department of agriculture today were making a study of Sheboygan county to determine the extent of infestation by the corn borer. In but two areas, both on the Hugbunsh farm, nine miles north of here.

J. D. Kimpfort, of the federal department of agriculture, director of the survey, said the situation was not regarded as serious but warned farmers to use care in cleaning up their fields. He said it was not determined how the borer got into the county.

105,000 Received at 12 Cities Compared With 83,000 Week Ago

Chicago. (P)—Liberal marketings, by far the largest of the year, were reported in the leading cattle markets of the country. About 70,000 cattle arrived in the three leading markets, and 105,000 in 12 markets compared with 83,000 a week ago and 68,500 a year ago. Chicago receipts of 21,000 cattle were largest in more than three months.

A miscellaneous description of steers made out the bulk of the run here, the choice fed classes being wanted, while grassers and short feeds were neglected. Bids were lower on all grades.

On all grades hog supplies throughout the principal markets gave buyers the upper hand in the local yards. Initial bids were 15-25c lower and early buyers would pay $7.00, though selected light butchers were held above that figure. Offerings of 35,000 included 9,000 hilled direct to packers and 5,000 state hogs were carried over from the previous week.

Shippers and small packers caught 160 to 180 lb. hogs at $7.75-8.50. A determined effort to check slipping live ration prices was undertaken on a rather wide scale. Reduction of volume of marketings at this time of the year is not easy, but 15,000 fewer sheep and lambs were in the markets today than a week ago and 10,000 of the decrease was accounted for in the local sheep sheds. Better prices were demanded but the trade was slow at the outset.

Arrivals for today were officially estimated at 21,000 cattle, 35,000 hogs, 26,000 sheep against 17,473 cattle, 28,038 hogs, 36,975 sheep last Monday and 13,199 cattle, 39,132 hogs, 31,938 sheep for the corresponding day last year.

SEE POSSIBLE PROBE OF CROP ESTIMATE PLAN

If Present Figures Prove Costly, False Alarm Investigation May Result

BY FRANK I. WELLER

Washington (AP)—Congressional investigation of the U. S. crop reporting board hardly can be escaped if its August 8 estimate of 15,584,000 bales of cotton—almost 2,500,000 bales more than the public had anticipated—proves to be that much in excess of the 1931 yield.

Records of the estimate and the board's proceedings have been impounded at the request of a southern member of congress who estimated that the precipitate decline in price on publication of the surprising figure had cost the cotton belt more than $150,000,000.

Twice before congress has moved against government forecasts on cotton. In 1926, a year of low weevil damage, each successive forecast raised the estimated yield.

The south clamored that it was ruining prices and congress passed a bill abolishing the July report entirely, eliminating all semi-monthly estimates and confining the board to August, September, October, November and December reports.

Estimate On "Safe Side"

Instead of being too high, however, the actual yield showed the board's early 1926 estimates to have been almost 2,000,000 bales too low. Again, in 1929, congress put an end to all predictions of probable cotton price trends by the bureau of agricultural economics when prices crashed on the strength of a report indicating lower values.

The department of agriculture has been giving the cotton farmer economic information on his crop for more than half a century.

Monthly forecasts of total production were inaugurated in 1915.

Since then, August forecasts have been higher than the actual yield eight times and lower eight times.

The greatest degree of accuracy has been obtained since 1927 when the crop reporting board began adding boll weevil infestation and damage to the determining factors.

In the 20 monthly forecasts of the last four years the board has been too high 10 times and too low 10 times, the September reports having been the most accurate.

Three times since 1927 the August forecast has been higher than the actual yield, the percentage of error running from 3.1 per cent. to 4.5 per cent.

It is too early to determine the probable effect of a number of things influencing the yield, notably weather conditions and acreage abandonment.

Abandonment Big Factor

This year the latter factor may be the chief influence in proving the August 8 estimate too high or too low.

Current low prices are a strong argument that many fields may be abandoned altogether, particularly in the southwest where the farmer waits until all the bolls are open before determining whether to gather his crop.

Such abandonment occurred in 1926 when there was a similarly heavy production and prices were low.

As much as 1,000,000 bales was left in the fields.

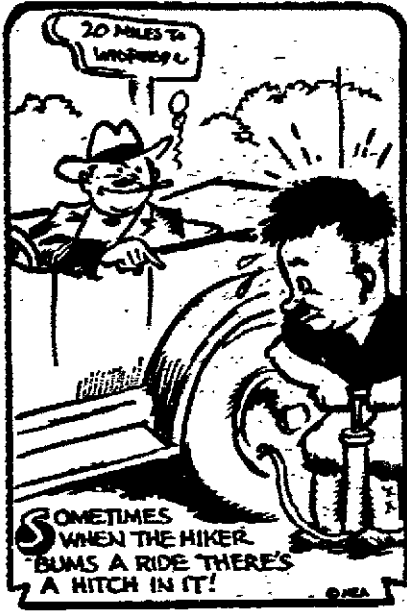

However, industry was not as depressed then as now and farm labor was scarce and relatively high priced. The current unemployment situation may lead this year to the harvesting of cotton that normally would be abandoned.

BABY CLINIC IS TO BE HELD AT LITTLE CHUTE

A baby clinic will be staged at the parochial school hall at Little Chute on Wednesday, Aug. 26, under auspices of the county and state boards of health. A local committee of women is making arrangements for the clinic. Dr. Elizabeth Taylor of the state board of health will have charge of the examinations; assisted by Miss Marie Klein, county nurse. Examinations will be conducted from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 4:30 in the afternoon. Mothers from outside of Little Chute as well as those in the village are invited to bring their babies to the clinic for examinations.

An operation will save the lives of persons who have swallowed the deadly poison, bichloride of mercury.

Badger Show to Open Sunday, Aug. 29 for Run of Seven Days

State Fair park, Milwaukee—With all departments showing greater entries than last year's record-breaking lists, Wisconsin's 1931 state fair will have the largest displays in history when it opens at sunrise Saturday, Aug. 29, to run for seven days and nights. Twelve bands will play throughout the days and evenings, and daily balloon ascensions will be staged before the grandstand from Monday to Friday.

Opening on Saturday for the first time in history, as a special feature gate and grandstand tickets will be sold at half-price on both Saturday and Sunday, the two opening days. On Monday all children will be admitted free to the grounds.

ISSUES LIST OF ITEMS NEEDED BY RURAL SCHOOLS

School Clerks Instructed by Superintendent to Prepare for Opening

In a circular letter issued this week to the clerks of rural school boards in Outagamie-co, A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, calls attention to a number of matters which should be attended to before the opening of schools. Outagamie-co rural schools will open Monday, Aug. 31, a week earlier than last year. Mr. Meating is now at work on the school calendar for 1931-32. These will be mailed out later. Following are some of the suggestions made by Mr. Meating:

"Grass and weeds on the school grounds and along the highway abutting the school grounds should be cut.

"The school building should have a thorough cleaning—hot water and plenty of soap—walls, windows, ceilings, baseboards, floor, and windows. A good coat of oil on the floor two or three days after scrubbing will be worth while. Use half raw linseed oil and half turpentine. (This is a light colored mixture).

"Have a drum of sweeping compound on hand. Legal requirement.

"Clean the stove pipe. Do not wait

Italy, Poland, Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

Over 1,000 dairy cattle are already entered and county herds of cattle will be brought to the dairy show from nineteen counties, including Clark, Marathon, Chippewa, Wood, Monroe, LaCrosse, Richland, Green, Fond du Lac, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Winnebago, Jefferson, Rock, Walworth, Racine, Waukesha, Washington and Milwaukee.

About 750 boys and girls will compete in exhibition, demonstration, judging and canning to win their share of the $12,500 prizes in 4-H club activities. More than $50,000 worth of fur on foot will be shown in the rabbit and fur exhibit, including 1,000 rabbits, 50 pens of foxes and 100 mink.

REVOLUTIONARY WAY TO ROAST COFFEE
USED BY HILLS BROS

Controlled Roasting Just the Opposite of Ordinary Method

By a radically different roasting process—Controlled Roasting—Hills Bros. give their rare blend a flavor no other coffee has!

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow... a little at a time... so the matchless, uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously... a little at a time. While the coffee passes through the roasters, the heat is automatically controlled. Any variation in the roast is thus absolutely prevented!

Such uniformity is not possible by bulk methods. In spite of watchful care, some of the coffee is roasted too much—some too little. Flavor variation is therefore inevitable.

As fast as Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted, it is ground and packed in vacuum. By this process, air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken from the can, and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if "air-tight," will not keep coffee fresh. Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

until the children have been smoked out.

"Outbuildings should be cleaned thoroughly. Vaults must be fly-tight. A small window is required. If glass is not in, tack screen over the opening. Chemical toilet tanks should be flushed and emptied and a new charge of chemical put in.

"A metal mail box bearing the name of the school is a U. S. Post Office requirement.

"There should be some playground equipment. We do not urge expensive equipment, but every school should have at least the following:

a. A large soft base ball costing about a dollar, and a bat. b. A sand box in the yard, size 8x12 feet, of planks ten or twelve inches wide. Furnish a clean, light sand. c. A volley ball net, with posts so that the net can be hung about four feet from the ground. And a volley ball or basket ball. d. A teacher board fastened to a support placed not more than three feet above the ground.

"Try the window shades to see that they will work. New cords may be needed—possibly new spring rollers.

"Soap and paper towels should be on hand. A soap dispenser with a good grade of liquid soap is most economical.

"If you do not have a good lavatory, at least provide a wash basin and a shelf. A lavatory with an outside drain is better.

"Provide a covered drinking tank but do not order a bubbler. There is too little pressure in the ordinary tank for this to be effective. Have a simple faucet, and let children make their own paper cups.

"Be sure that there are plenty of hooks in the cloak rooms to hang wraps on. Also shelves for dinner pails.

"There should be at least two chairs beside the teacher's chair.

"Screens are a necessity for the school house. There is no excuse for having the children annoyed by the host of flies that are in unscreened school houses. When screens are provided, insist that teacher and pupils keep the flies out. There should be a screen door, and at least two window screens placed so that a cross current of air may be had.

"See your teacher a week before school and order the books and other supplies that will be needed. Be ready to start so that time will not be lost.

Supplementary readers. Every school is required to have at least one set of supplementary readers. These are to be furnished by the district whether you have free text books or not."

Square this

with what you hear

... what you read

... what you believe

NOWADAYS you read and hear every kind of thing about cigarettes. But when you try to square some of it with your own common-sense and experience, a lot of it just doesn't "square"!

What smokers want to know about a cigarette is "How good is it?"

And when it comes to that, cigarettes are just as good and just as pure as the materials from which they're made.

In making Chesterfield, we use only riper, milder, sweeter-tasting tobaccos—the best that money can buy—and pure cigarette paper—the purest that can be made. Our chemists rigidly test for cleanliness and purity all materials used in the manufacture of Chesterfield. In our factories even the air is washed, and changed every 4½ minutes.

Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy or that science knows about.

"Good... they've got to be good," we say about CHESTERFIELD—and we mean it! And that's something you can square with everything you've ever read, or heard—or know—about this good cigarette!
